Chinese Say Tide Of War Turning In Their Favor

Claim Japanese Lost 34,000 Killed as Line in Shantung Broken

Body of Chinese General Recovered

SHANGHAI (AP)—A general Chinese offensive all along the south Shantung front was declared by the Chinese command to have smashed through the center of the Japanese lines at Taiherchwang Wednesday and to have advanced 12 miles. Chinese advance guards fought forward five miles in a night battle, adding these gains to the seven miles they had rolled back and buckled up the Japanese lines in the first assault Tuesday. The field commanders of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek declared the tide of war was turning in their favor. His high command said they expected an epochal Japanese defeat similar to that which humbled the divisions of Nippon at Taiherchwang a month ago. The second great Japanese offensive through Shantung province, this time greatly reinforced to wipe out the previous defeat, was definitely checked, they declared. Japanese army spokesmen were silent.

LOSSES 34,000

Chinese sources estimated the weary, outnumbered Japanese army had lost 34,000 men, killed in fighting in recent days.

A vigorous Chinese army believed to have been reinforced to 800,000 men for the counter-assault in Shantung province, sought to put an end once and for all to this phase of the Japanese offensive which had for its major objective the linking of the conquests in north China and the Japanese-occupied areas about Shanghai and Nanking.

Besides the serious break in the Japanese lines northeast of Taiherchwang, Chinese reported a flying column had moved around the Japanese left flank and cut their communication lines between Tancheng and Lini to the rear.

The Japanese struck back with a ferocious air raid on Suchow, Chinese base and junction of the east-west Lushan line and the north-south Tientsin-Pukow rail. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

ALEXIS MARTIN PASSES AWAY

Well-known Barrister, Here Since 1898, Died Last Night at Home

Alexis Francis Ramsay Martin, for forty years a highly respected member of the Victoria bar, passed away last night at the family residence, 1063 Newport Avenue, after a long illness. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Rev. H. St. J. Payne officiating, after which the remains will be cremated at Royal Oak crematorium.

Mr. Martin was born at Ballynahinch, Hamilton, Ontario, in 1871, a son of the late Edward Martin, K.C. Destined to follow the family tradition and embrace the law as a career, Mr. Martin was educated at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and later at Trinity College and Osgoode Hall, Toronto. In 1898 he came to Victoria and started to practice law, and during his 40 years here had conducted many notable cases in the various courts.

In his younger days Mr. Martin was a fine athlete, known throughout Canada for his prowess at cricket, rugby, tennis and hockey. While at Trinity he was captain of the rugby team and in 1896 was captain of the Osgoode Hall rugby team which came very near to winning the Canadian championship. He was (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Reeve Withdraws His Resignation

MATSQUI, B.C. (CP)—Reeve George Cruickshanks of this Fraser Valley municipality has reconsidered, and will not resign after all. The reeve handed in his resignation after a council argument with 25 farmers who wanted a culvert built. The council decided the culvert would not be constructed. Reeve Cruickshanks withdrew the resignation.

British Air Mission Invited Here

Mayor Andrew McGavin today invited the five travelers pictured above to include Victoria in their tour of Canada. He dispatched a telegram to Seattle, where they are today. There is much interest in the building of airplanes in Canada and the United States for the Royal Air Force. Shown, left to right, are: Commander Sir Arthur T. Harris, commander of the Fourth Bomber Group; Reserve Commander James G. Weir, Commander Casper John of the fleet air arm; Squadron Leader Charles E. Horrex, and Frederick Rowarth, civilian engineer. They crossed from New York and visited California before journeying north to Seattle. From Vancouver today went a message from Mayor G. C. Miller inviting them to visit that city.

DUBLIN (CP)—Dr. Douglas Hyde, the eminent Celtic scholar, became President of Eire today by acclamation. The nomination ceremony took place at the government buildings before the representatives of all the political parties of the former Irish Free State. Later, Prime Minister Eamon de Valera gave a luncheon honoring the new 78-year-old Protestant head of this Catholic state. King George remains recognized as sovereign of Eire in external affairs.

The insurgents were seeking to gain control of northern approaches to the Teruel highway to Sagunto, where government fortifications have blocked the road to Valencia. At least 50 persons were killed and many wounded yesterday when insurgent artillery again cut loose on battered Madrid.

Time Soon Will Come For Replacement of Russia and Asia, Says Beatty

MONTREAL (CP)—Sir Edward Beatty told shareholders of Canadian Pacific Railway Company at their annual meeting here today there was no reason to fear the company would not again earn a reasonable return on its assets of $1,382,000,000. "Even if the company's properties continue to be operated separately and in competition with the Canadian National Railways," Sir Edward said in his presidential address, "my considered view is that there is no reason for pessimism in regard to the future outlook of the company. It is hardly necessary for me to repeat that, should they be joined with those of the government-owned railway in a rationalized system, most important advantages would result to the owners of both properties."

Ocean services also were reviewed by the president, who said the liners Empress of Australia, Empress of Russia and Empress of Asia were in sight of the period when they could be regarded as due for replacement after a long and creditable record of service. It might, he said, soon be advisable to make certain improvements in the passenger accommodation of the liners Montcalm, Montclare and Montrose. Sir Edward and all other officers of the company were elected today. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

He became ill and was released November 17, 1936, some months after he had been nominated for the Nobel prize.

Canada Needs U.S. Prosperity

Essential For Dominion's Welfare, Says Bank of Commerce President

Prosperity in Canada this year depended on the prairie crops and business conditions in the United States, S. H. Logan, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce said in an interview here today.

He said he was hopeful of a fine prairie crop, following heavy moisture of recent days, but about conditions in the United States he was not so optimistic.

"We won't go far in Canada unless the United States swings into recovery," he said. "You can't have revival of prosperity when such an important country as the United States is depressed."

Prospects for a good crop on the prairies, particularly Saskatchewan, were better than they had been for ten years, Mr. Logan said.

GOOD YEAR

Canada, last year, had one of its best business years, Mr. Logan said, and he attributed this in some measure to reduction of the United States lumber and cattle tariffs.

"But we must not forget an agreement has to work both ways to be mutually beneficial. Canada bought in excess of $400,000,000 worth of United States goods last year and is one of that country's best customers. "There is a fundamental soundness in the economic structure of the United States, in the goods their people need and in their ability to provide them that should make for excellent business, but I found a lack of confidence, without which their vast industrial machine cannot get into full swing." TO ERECT BIG GAS CONTAINER

Victoria Gas Co. Given Permit For $30,000 Project at Government and Pembroke

A $30,000 construction permit was issued by the city building inspector's department today to E. N. Horsey, chief engineer of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company for the building of an all-steel "two lift telescope gas holder for the Victoria Gas Company.

The tank, which will replace that destroyed by fire here several years ago, will be erected on the corner of Pembroke and Government Streets. With an 84-foot diameter, the tower will rise 80 feet in the air. It will be spiral guarded on steel columns with a masonry foundation.

Shipped from England, it will be assembled and put in place here under the direction of Mr. Horsey, to suit the needs of expanding business here. The permit represented the largest construction job of the last few weeks.

DIZZY DEAN TO TAKE REST

High-priced Pitcher of Chicago Cubs Must Lay Up Injured Arm

CHICAGO (AP)—Dizzy Dean will be absent from the Cubs' line up for at least a month, Dr. J. F. Davis, club physician, announced today, although X-ray examinations failed to disclose any damaged muscles or ligaments.

Dr. Davis ordered Dean to take a complete rest for two weeks. He added it probably would be another two weeks before the big right hander could return to the game. Dr. Davis said there was still a lingering inflammation in Dean's salary arm, due to a muscle injury in his shoulder last year, and that it was his belief it could be completely cured with absolute rest.

Vancouver Man In Japan Jail

J. B. Gilbertson Reported Held on Warship Photo Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Daily Province in a copy-right story today said Joseph B. Gilbertson of Vancouver has been held in a military jail in Osaka, Japan, since April 17 because he took snapshot photographs of Japanese battleships anchored off Osaka.

The newspaper said Gilbertson, 23, was fourth engineer aboard the Glasgow steamship Heathcote. He was said to have been arrested in Osaka after a Japanese customs official examining crew baggage had found a number of snapshots inside his suitcase.

The Heathcote reached Vancouver yesterday. The newspaper said it had been told by members of the crew that the pictures showed Japanese battleships anchored off Osaka, views of Japanese streets and dwelling houses, and a group of people sitting on the beach at English Bay, in Vancouver.

The captain of the Heathcote, crew members said, was told this (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

New Labor Law Evokes Battle

Labor Urges New Ruling On Bargaining Rights in British Columbia

Pearson Ready To Fight Issue

A controversy of major importance between organized labor and the British Columbia labor department over the bargaining rights of employees and trade unions developed today.

The labor men planned to take their case before the whole provincial cabinet and insist on a different interpretation of the province's new labor law, the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. Meantime Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, announced he was ready to carry the fight for his interpretation of the act to the floor of the Legislature.

The argument revolves around the question of who shall have the right to negotiate for employees in an industrial dispute. Shall a labor union have the right to step in and handle negotiations or shall the employees involved in the dispute retain control?

PEARSON RULING

Mr. Pearson rules that employees must have complete control of their negotiations. They can have outside negotiators, who may be union officers, if they choose, but the negotiators must be a majority choice. Percy Bengough, secretary of (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Devaluation Of Franc Announced

French Government Decides On Lower Level; Market To Fix Figure

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier today announced devaluation and stabilization of the French franc in full accord with the governments of the United States and Great Britain.

The Premier said the government had decided to fix a new level for the franc, but did not announce at what figure. He said this new level was necessary because the franc had to have a rate "where it could be maintained."

The announcement was made in an address to the nation at the end of a day marked by an emergency cabinet meeting and consultations with London and Washington.

AGREEMENT CHANGED

Officials said the negotiations were concerned with amendment of the three powers' 1936 agreement for stabilization of their currencies. Three factors in France's precarious financial situation, M.

ROME (CP)—The dictators of Germany and Italy, in private conversations between the festive duties of Chancellor Hitler's state visit to Rome, today discussed the question of colonies.

An informed source told the Associated Press their exchange dealt entirely with the colonial question, Hitler doing most of the talking, Mussolini the listening.

The chiefs of state were alone for half an hour at the Quirinal this morning and again for an hour this afternoon.

The talks were started shortly after Chancellor Hitler had begun his week's program by paying homage to Italy's kings and her Unknown Soldier, who lies in the white Vittorio Emanuele Monument in Venezia Square.

Before the conversations began none outside the group of immediate confidants had known what the two dictators had to say in political talk today, but Rome diplomats suggested two pertinent points:

1. Premier Mussolini might sound out his guest on the much-talked-of proposed five-power pact among Italy, Germany, Great Britain, France and Poland. 2. Hitler likely will use his visit to renew his assurances Germany is content to let the Brenner Pass (gateway between Austria and Italy) be his frontier, notwithstanding the presence of large number of German residents in the Italian Tyrol which Italy won from old Austria at the end of the Great War.

What Hitler intends to do about Czechoslovakia and its German population doubtless will come up for discussion, and there is speculation also on what the two leaders will decide about Spain. (Mussolini has agreed with Great Britain to retire Italian troops from Spain by the end of the war, if not before.)

PLACED WREATH

Before the conversation this morning the Fuehrer laid a wreath at the Soldier's Tomb while bands blared and members of his party saluted. Hitler and Il Duce then went to Capitoline Hill and saluted the monument to fallen Fascists.

Premier Mussolini called for his guest at the Quirinal Palace in an automobile at 9:55 a.m. Thirty-five minutes later, followed by 15 cars, they rode through streets lined with guards and modest-sized early morning crowds.

The half-hour in the Quirinal (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Daladier said, made a new rate desirable: First, increasing unemployment in France; second, France's foreign trade balance, which was growing worse; third, the increasing danger of conflict.

(The Havas News Agency quoted the Premier as declaring the franc would be allowed to find its own level during the course of tomorrow's trading on the exchange markets). The franc opened today on the Bourse at 33.15 to the dollar, only one centime more than yesterday's official closing of 33.14, but the pound was quoted at 169.875 francs, almost five francs more than yesterday.

Before the Bourse opened banks had quoted the dollar at 33.70 francs. The dollar later rose to close officially at 33.93 francs (making the franc worth 2.95 cents). The pound closed at 169.75 francs.

Ontario Claims Income Tax

Rowell Board Hears Request Dominion Vacate Field

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government today declared its readiness to shoulder the entire relief load—if the Dominion would grant it prior right in the income tax field.

On both moral and equitable grounds the provinces had first claim on income taxes and all other direct taxes, Chester Walters, provincial controller of finance, asserted as he continued presentation of the government's "statement" before the Rowell commission.

From confederation to the Great War, there was a tacit understanding that direct taxation was to belong to the provinces, he submitted. A federal income tax had been introduced merely as a temporary emergency measure in 1917 for war purposes. The provincial government considered Dominion taxes on personal income an invasion of a provincial field of taxation.

"If the Dominion authorities will do this (acknowledge the province's priority in direct taxation) Ontario will be willing to look after unemployment relief and will ask no assistance from the Dominion Government, but will make an equitable arrangement with the municipalities, which will help to lift the heavy load of taxation that now bears on real estate," he said.

"When the Dominion levied an income tax allowing identical exemptions from coast to coast, Mr. Walters held a serious injustice arose from the differences in living costs. A $3,000 income represented a much larger real income in the Maritimes than it did in Ontario or British Columbia.

Guards at Home Of Governor

Note Warns Hurley of Massachusetts His "Dogher" Will Be Missing

BOSTON (AP)—State troopers guarded the Cambridge home of Governor Charles F. Hurley today while police chemists sought fingerprints on a crudely printed note warning: "Beware governor—your dogher will be missing one week from today."

"Dogher" was interpreted to mean one of Hurley's three daughters, Betty, 13; Nancy, six, and Ellen Sarah, five months. Postal inspectors, however, took a less serious view of the missive after examining a facsimile, and expressed the opinion it was the work of a boy. Chief Inspector John J. Breslin said he believed the word "dogher" was intended as two words and referred to the governor's dog.

He said there was no violation of the postal laws and that he was discontinuing his investigation as he did not consider the letter a threat.

ship would be detained pending an investigation. He was asked to attend court in Osaka with members of his crew. Gilbertson was charged "in connection with the pictures he had taken," the newspaper said.

The ship was then allowed to proceed when a British shipping firm stood bond for crew members. Gilbertson was held in custody and told he might "have to answer to a higher court."

Mrs. Annie Gilbertson of Vancouver, Gilbertson's mother, told the Daily Province she had heard regularly from her son since he sailed from Vancouver aboard the Heathcote last September.

The photographs, she was quoted as saying, were "taken merely as souvenirs of the trip and there could be no question of espionage."

Dramatic Rescue From Foundering Plane

The plane may be the king of the sky, but when forced down it's mighty handy to have a ship close by. The photo above shows the recent dramatic rescue of 12 passengers and a crew member from a Pan-American twin-motored flying boat which developed motor trouble while flying from Cuba to Jamaica and had to land on the shark-infested waters of the Caribbean. A freighter, the Cavina, sent an open boat to take the marooned off the plane. When the no-longer flying boat began to sink, three other crew members put to sea on a rubber raft. A couple of sharks tried to attack them and they were finally saved by a tugboat. The plane sank an hour after coming down.

C.P.R. CONSIDERS TWO NEW LINERS FOR THE PACIFIC

THREE FACTORS

Company business, Sir Edward said in his address, had been affected detrimentally during recent years by three major factors: The world-wide business depression, small yields and low prices of major product of Canada's chief group of producers. And, "in addition to the competition of other forms of transport with which it has had to contend in common with other railways throughout the world, it (the company) has been faced with the continued necessity of maintaining its position in competition with a state-owned system which meets it at practically every point of importance throughout the country."

The third major factor, "state competition, still persists," said Sir Edward. If the recommendations of the Senate committee now investigating the railway problem "result in the longer overdue rationalization of the railway situation in Canada, the company stands to share in the resulting benefits."

Decrease in gross earnings and increase in the wage scales resulted in a decline of net earnings for the first quarter of the year, he said, despite rigid economy.

SENATE INQUIRY

Speaking of the committee of the Senate which today in Ottawa started a study of the railway problem, Sir Edward said that should the recommendations of that committee result in the long-overdue rationalization of the railway situation in Canada, "the company stands to share in the resulting benefits."

GRAIN CROPS

The Dominion and the company, said Sir Edward, would benefit from any improvement in world economy conditions. This betterment depended on many factors and would be slow. There was reason to believe that western Canada was emerging from one of its recurring periods of insufficient rainfall, and that "we may look forward to definite improvement in grain yields during the present and future years."

Reduced volume of traffic to and from the United States, and the slowing up of industrial activity in eastern Canada, said the president, accounted almost entirely for the decline of $1,500, 728, or 4.7 per cent in gross earnings during the first quarter of 1938.

Working expenses increased $893,735, or 3.2 per cent, accounted for almost entirely by the progressive restoration of the 10 per cent deduction from the basic rates of pay. It was estimated that if these basic rates were continued for the balance of the present year it would mean an increase in working expenses of $5,000,000, or approximately 4.1 per cent over 1937.

Despite rigid economy the decrease in gross earnings and the increase in wage scales had resulted in a decline of net earnings for the first quarter of this year of $2,394,463, "unless and until favorable crop prospects are realized," he said. "All expenditures will continue to be curtailed in keeping with the lower volume of traffic and the burden imposed by the higher rates of pay."

MOTIVE POWER

Sir Edward went on to give the shareholders a detailed description of the physical property.

The company's motive power was in first class condition. This had always been considered economical. Steam locomotives numbered 1,955.

The company had 3,025 units employed in passenger service, of which 53 per cent were of steel or steel underframe construction, and 47 per cent wood.

SHIP FLEETS

The company's ocean and coastal fleets comprised 18 ocean and 23 coastal steamships, with an aggregate gross tonnage of 385,160 tons, he said. Depreciation at 6 per cent less estimated salvage was being currently provided out of their earnings. Accumulated reserve at the end of last year amounted to almost $44,000,000. The Empress of Britain and Empress of Japan were still maintaining their high position among the world's merchant fleets, as did the Empress of Canada.

HOTEL CHANGES

A start had been made with necessary renovation in the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg.

An agreement had been reached with the Canadian National Railways with respect to the hotel situation at Vancouver. While the arrangement would involve a substantial capital loss for the company, it would avoid carrying out an expensive renovation of the present Hotel Vancouver. Instead of possible losses to both companies from the operation of separate hotels, there was a probability that the operation of one hotel would result in reasonable operating profits.

Today's was the 57th annual meeting and the 20th at which Sir Edward had presided.

At the shareholders' meeting the retiring directors, Sir Charles Gordon, Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, Ross H. McMaster, James A. Richardson and Morris W. Wilson were re-elected officers. At the meeting of directors following the annual meeting of shareholders, Sir Edward Beatty was re-elected chairman and president; D. C. Coleman, vice-president, and Sir Edward Beatty, D. C. Coleman, Sir Herbert S. Holt, W. N. Tilley, K.C.; Sir Charles Gordon, Ross H. McMaster members of the executive committee for the ensuing year.

trading today at 2.89½ cents in relation to the United States dollar. There were no bidders at that price which represented a loss of 1.2½ cent from yesterday's finish. The unit opened fairly steady and was marked by disorganized activity throughout the day.

DISCUSSION IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Future of the French franc occupied treasury officials today following an official exchange of views between the United States and French governments.

Count Rene de Saint-Quentin, French ambassador, consulted Henry Mortenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, twice yesterday, but no decision was reached. The ambassador was believed in financial quarters to have brought proposals for devaluing and stabilizing the franc at some figure below its current market value of 3.06 cents. One Paris report said the French proposed a price of 2.7 cents.

A lower franc value would hamper United States merchandise sales in France because it would take more francs to buy the same amount of American goods than it does now.

So quickly did Hitler and Mussolini leave the car to enter the Pantheon that others in the party had to run to catch up.

SALUTE TO PRIEST

The two dictators were greeted at the entrance by Monsignor Giuseppe Beccaria, chaplain to the king. It was Hitler's first encounter with a representative of the church since his arrival in Rome. He joined the Duce in raising a hand in salute to the purple-robed priest.

The Fuehrer deposited wreaths at the tombs of the two Italian kings and paused briefly with Mussolini as they left to look back at the famous dome, with open centre, through which drops of rain were beginning to fall on the rich red carpet spread for their feet.

The brilliant so-called "Hitler weather" which followed him into Italy when he arrived yesterday for his six-day visit gave way to chilly rain before the morning round of formalities was completed.

the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, declared in Vancouver last night, that this ruling meant the act did not recognize trades unions.

Mr. Pearson said today he did not quite see Mr. Bengough's reasoning, unless it was that he wanted the act so arranged that a central body of a craft union could step in and take over the bargaining powers of the individual employees.

"I say no," Mr. Pearson declared. "The act, as I see it, gives the right to the individual to take his own course, independent of any organization or organizers outside of his own."

MUST NAME REPRESENTATIVES

"The act provides, of course, that a trade union is included in employees' organizations. I take this to mean that when employees organize a trade union of their own we can deal with that body. But when some of the employees are members of a union that is not necessarily their own we do not recognize that as the bargaining body unless a majority of employees specifically say so.

"In other words, the employees involved in a dispute must determine for themselves what they are going to do, not the bosses nor the organizers. They must retain that power and I will do my best to see that they do. This is the true democratic spirit behind the act. I'm prepared to go to the floor of the House to fight out that principle."

LABOR'S ACTION

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver and New Westminster Trades and Labor Council, meeting last night, decided to confer with the British Columbia cabinet regarding the government's interpretation of the industrial arbitration and conciliation act.

The decision came after several delegates had demanded immediate action in the form of mass meetings to protest the interpretation of the act made by Hon. George Pearson, Minister of Labor, which Percy R. Bengough, council president, said "refuses to recognize trade unions."

The act, passed at the last session of the legislature, gives labor the right to organize and bargain collectively. "I know that some members of the cabinet do not agree with the stand of the Minister of Labor," Mr. Bengough said, "and I believe that when the matter is placed before the premier, the government will not take that stand."

He said the executive of the council would place its case before the cabinet as soon as Premier Pattullo returns to Victoria, and urged the delegates to refrain from public meetings until after the conference.

The premier is expected to return about May 10.

Long Debate On Relief Bill

Labor Minister Denies Patronage in Outlays As Charged By Bennett

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition members of the Commons Tuesday continued to block any progress with the unemployment and farm relief measure, which has been before the House almost constantly since Parliament resumed after the Easter recess, with government supporters frequently contributing to the long drawn out debate.

Arguments for and against unemployment insurance, demands for more expenditures on roads and housing and political recriminations featured yesterday's debate in committee.

And through all the debate ran the steady urgings of the Social Credit group to end unemployment at once by the "proper use of credit" and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation argument that industry must be organized to support its workers.

TO AVOID DIFFICULTIES

Expenditures on relief projects under this year's legislation would be concentrated on those projects within federal jurisdiction, Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, told the House.

In this way, the minister said, it was hoped to "avoid the difficulties—and to some extent the abuses—which have occurred under joint works programs."

The minister had been queried as to what arrangements would be made with the provinces for joint expenditures.

"It may be," Mr. Rogers added, "that there will still be some measure which will provide for joint works with the provinces; there may be a continuation of existing projects for which there will be a re-vote in the estimates, but in general the intention is to concentrate expenditures under federal jurisdiction."

The government was pressed from three sides of the House to go ahead with its plan for an unemployment insurance scheme.

A. A. Heaps, C.C.F., Winnipeg North, suggested a referendum be submitted at the next election, to determine the will of the people on empowering Parliament to pass a national insurance law and otherwise legislate on social questions.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Oh, yeah? Who got up and fixed his breakfast yesterday?"

Paul Martin, Liberal, East Essex, Ont., claimed only a national law would work properly in Canada.

"If we cannot get the provinces to agree, we should assume the necessary power," he said. "It is a question we will have to face sooner or later."

Mr. Martin later urged the Dominion take the whole question of federal and provincial jurisdiction, "lump it together and make an issue of it." He felt sure public opinion would say that on national problems Parliament should have the power.

LONG-RANGE PLAN

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, argued for a long-range policy which would stave off depressions in this country. Among other things, this would involve a change in tariff policies because "you cannot have your goods manufactured in another country and not have unemployment among those who were making those goods here."

Mr. Bennett was greatly concerned about present conditions in the country. He was particularly concerned over the lack of harmony. Briefs to the Rowell Commission complained of conditions which should never have been allowed to exist.

The Conservative leader said he had information that political patronage was creeping into relief administration all over the country. He mentioned Long Branch, Ont.; Banff, Alta., and Victoria, B.C. He gave no details, but said he had a stack of correspondence he would introduce at some later date.

"I could mention place after place in which either the defeated candidate, the head of the Liberal association, or some one else, must be consulted before it is possible for a man to find employment," he said.

Labor Minister Rogers vehemently denied any patronage was operating in respect of relief expenditures with either his knowledge, connivance or approval.

He said that in his years in the House he had refrained from vicious party attacks and "I suggest it is high time in the interests of this House and our institutions of the government that these vague and indefinite charges cease to be made."

MRS. BLACK SPEAKS

Mrs. George Black, 70-year-old Conservative member for the Yukon, who started the discussion yesterday expressed sympathy with the youthful Labor Minister who has been under fire over a week.

Mrs. Black commended Mr. Rogers for his conscientious efforts and sincerity of purpose, and advised him to choose well those to whom would be entrusted the spending of relief moneys.

Labor Board In U.S. Criticized

Commerce Chamber Hears W. S. Knudsen, General Motors President

WASHINGTON (AP) — William S. Knudsen, president of the General Motors Corporation, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today that the Wagner Labor Act is "the largest drawback to good industrial relations."

Discussing the strikes that have tied up his company's plants at various times in recent months, Knudsen said in a prepared address:

"The National Labor Relations Board set up to administer the act makes no pretence even of paying any attention to the employer's side of the case."

"He can only be heard when he is summoned, and he knows before he goes that there is no record of a single decision where he has a ghost of a show, so what?"

Yesterday Senator E. R. Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, addressing the labor section of the Chamber of Commerce convention, demanded the members of the Labor Board resign. He proposed a new board be appointed to represent the viewpoints of labor, management and the public.

NOT DISCOURAGED

Knudsen in his speech said business is not discouraged "despite all that is said" against it.

Tracing the history of sit-down strikers in the General Motors plants beginning early last year, he estimated the loss to the men in wages as a result of the first strike "was around 30,000,000 hours, or about $25,000,000."

To C.I.O. charges of "hired thugs and strikebreakers," Knudsen said the General Motors had employed "not one strike-breaker." He in turn charged that "everyone knows that the present industrial unions have strong-arm squads which enforce compliance even if they on the surface appear conservative."

BRITAIN'S NEW TEA TAX VOTED

LONDON (CP) — Sir John Simon's new taxes on tea and alcohol used for motive power passed the House of Commons Tuesday night after mild opposition.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer himself defended the increase in the tea duty of fourpence a pound against a Labor amendment. He declared an extra £30,000,000 (£150,000,000) was required to defend every roof through rearmament.

"Is it right to get the money from one section of the population?" he demanded. "If an attack comes from the skies one roof won't escape because it covers poor people and another because it shelters rich people."

Lieut.-Col. Colville, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, explained the manufacture of commercial alcohol in England had increased from 18,000 gallons in 1931 to 8,000,000 now, and that the treasury lost its tax when this alcohol replaced petrol which is taxed.

The budget provision dealing with duty on imported films was agreed to without discussion.

VANDERHOOF, B.C. (CP) — This northern interior British Columbia community Tuesday approved a plebiscite on the question of raising the civic tax rate two mills to support a proposed hospital. It carried by a two-to-one vote.

Still Not Convincing

TO SAY THAT "THE BUSINESSMEN OF the Dominion believe that the solution of the railway problem lies in unification" is to advance a theory for which there is only the flimsiest support in fact. Nor will the businessmen of the Dominion be any more impressed because the Toronto Globe and Mail—as quoted by our morning contemporary today—says so in the course of a "warm tribute to Sir Edward Beatty for what he has done, more than any other single person," to make "the public railway problem conscious."

Within recent weeks the members of the Canadian Parliament have been supplied with all sorts of information—reliable, politically tinged, and definitely prejudiced—about the Dominion's railway problem, presumably in an attempt to reduce them to a plastic state of "railway-problem consciousness."

One piece of propaganda issued by the unificationists advocates the transference from the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to the Canadian Government annual fixed charges and payments amounting to at least $28,652,811, and other immediate obligations, which might bring the total up to $93,651,811.

What this really means is clearly shown by the C.P.R.'s last annual statement. It would require the government to guarantee annual fixed charges of C.P.R., $24,041,533; half the annual dividend of 4 per cent on C.P.R. preference shares, $2,745,138; C.P.R. obligations of annual interest guaranteed by C.P.R. on $93,405,000 of Sault Ste. Marie bonds, $1,866,140; total $28,652,811. In the position of equity holder in the Sault Ste. Marie railway in the United States, the C.P.R. faces the further problem of a big maturity shortly in the bonds of that railway on which it has guaranteed the interest. Two issues of these 4 per cent, aggregating $64,999,000, fall due on July 1, next.

It will thus be observed from the foregoing that the essence of the argument advanced in the propaganda of the unificationists is the proposed shift of financial responsibility.

"No Reason for Pessimism"

AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, held in Montreal today, Sir Edward Beatty, president of this great transportation system, said:

"Even if the company's properties continue to be operated separately and in competition with the Canadian National Railways, my considered view is that there is no reason for pessimism in regard to the future outlook of the company."

Every Canadian admits that this country has a railway problem on its hands. But if Sir Edward Beatty meant what he said today—and nobody will question it—it would appear that he is not tearing his hair anything like as frantically as some journalistic advocates of "unification" try to make out.

Games and Realities

AT OHIO'S OBERLIN COLLEGE students have subjected themselves to campus "war games" for the alleged purpose of becoming acquainted with the horrors they might encounter in the tragic event of another great war. We are told that National Guard troops have appeared on the job as instructors in drilling, the handling of firearms, the use of gas masks, and similar subjects, while professors have gone in for enlightenment in the field of "theory." War rations have been served in the college dining halls.

Says one commentator on this experiment in Ohio: "Now why does not some other college carry on from there and give a little real horror instruction?—within certain limits, of course. Have a class in marching, that lasts all day and covers 20 miles of ground. Have a six-hour class in the art of standing around knee-deep in water. Hold a night session in sleeping on a rock pile, and follow it up with a morning stretch of trench-digging. And of course the students ought not be allowed to take their clothes off for a week, and all the eating should be done with a bayonet, or maybe the fingers."

That would be a real education in all the "fine" and utterly revolting points of modern warfare as far as we understand the pattern of 1914-1918. None of this, however, would be of much use in 1938.

Tough King Charles

SOME ENTERPRISING ANTIQUARIAN recently dug back into old English records and came out with an account of the kind of doctoring a man back in the old days got when he was sick. The patient involved was no less a person than King Charles II, so it can be assumed he got the best there was.

King Charles, it seems, fell ill, and the most learned medics of the land were called to the royal bedside. After much conferring and wise head-wagging, they gave His Majesty what, in present-day vulgar parlance, was considered "the works." They bled him twice, to begin with, then they gave him a dose of antimony, followed by sacred bitters, rock salt, camomile flowers, linseed, cinnamon, fennel seed, powdered hellebore root, some white wine—which he probably found palatable—powdered cowslip flowers, some absinthe, and a weird extract of thistle leaves, mint, rue and angelica.

The king apparently was not much better after taking on this medicinal combination. So the doctors concocted something new. His Majesty absorbed black cherry waters, melon seeds, dissolved pearls, gentian root, nutmeg, quinine and cloves; and this was followed by 40 drops of an extract of powdered human skulls, topped off by a mixture of something called Raleigh's antidote, pearl julep and ammonia.

Apparently the merry monarch lived through it, but he must have been perceptibly less merry thereafter. And when one reads of that horrendous dosing, one cannot help reflecting that modern progress has done most for us in the simple little matter of making a man comfortable. For, obviously, nobody ever gave a thought to a man's comfort in a day when the doctors cooked up messes like that dispensed for King Charles. A man of high or low degree in those days, of course, was not expected to be very comfortable; the ills of the flesh were something he was supposed to take and like.

Following Victoria's Lead

IT IS DOUBTFUL IF GASOLINE stations in Victoria will comply with the request of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and announce themselves as purveyors of petrol—to accentuate Victoria's English atmosphere—but the suggestion nevertheless seems to have served a purpose. Although it was made several months ago, it is still a matter for favorable comment in Pacific Coast newspapers.

The latest angle in the discussion is interesting. Vancouver, which at first poked mild fun at the Victoria petrol idea, is apparently wondering if it has not overlooked something itself in the matter of individualism. The city of Seattle, too, is taking a lesson from Victoria. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, commenting on this city's appeal to tourists as a distinctive city, notes "Victoria's success in building up a lucrative tourist business is well worth consideration," and suggests that in connection with the celebration of Washington's Golden Jubilee next year the Washington State progress commission find some means of providing color and atmosphere in keeping with its own history and traditions.

Small wonder, then, that Vancouver writers are beginning to ask themselves whether their city has not developed an inferiority complex—a feeling that it now is forced to follow instead of lead our neighbors on the south. "If we only knew it," says one writer in Vancouver, "our best selling point is that this country is British and different, that our best selling tourist propaganda is to make our visitors from the south visualize this feature." Also from Vancouver come congratulations to Victoria for having restored helmets to policemen, suggesting that Vancouver do the same instead of copying the style of uniform worn by U.S. policemen.

Going Strong At 108

THERE CAN BE FEW WITH BETTER claims to be the oldest resident of a British country than Mr. Patrick Hamilton, of Pleasant Point, South Canterbury, New Zealand, who recently celebrated his 108th birthday. In an interview he said he was heartily tired of publicity and felt very greatly the burden of answering the many letters that come to him from all parts of the world.

For 69 years Mr. Hamilton has lived in New Zealand and his home today is the same cottage that he built in 1869. In both may be seen the passing of the years, but Mr. Hamilton, the dispatch tells us, is still active and has only just taken to using two sticks to help him to get about more easily. His home is still neat and in excellent repair. He does not use glasses for reading purposes, and he gets much quiet enjoyment from his garden.

Mr. Hamilton was born in Cardonagh, County Donegal, Ireland, on St. Patrick's Day, 1830. He has lived to see many changes in the land of his birth, the more recent of which have been brought about by the Anglo-Irish agreement, and now the selection of a new president for the former Irish Free State—without an electoral ballot. Verily he has seen a calm come over the romantic, if turbulent, Emerald Isle!

Notes

You needn't go to Europe to find Fascism. Watch any man or group that has power to rule or ruin somebody.

The New Yorker has discovered a 17th century map of the New World which describes the site of New York as "the Isle of Manhattan, or Isle of Nuts." These old records explain so much.

RECOVERY VS. WAR COSTS

From New York Post
President Roosevelt proposes to spend a sum for recovery less by far than the sums which were spent to win the World War, for which $25,000,000,000 of debt was incurred in only two years.

Not if they bear in mind that the per capita debt in the United States today is less than it was at the close of the costly World War... that in 1919 it was $242.57, and that in 1938 it is only $213.04.

Above all, let people remember that recovery money isn't wasted.

The President's foes try to encourage that notion. But the dollars spent for recovery so far have borne fruit in bridges, buildings, parks, hospitals, flood control dams, airports, sewage plants... and a thousand other improvements, every one of which is returning a real dividend in more civilized living.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

PAINTERS

PAINTERS, I AM convinced, must be the world's best thinkers; not great portrait painters, just ordinary house painters. But more especially, boat painters. There is an unearthly calm, a great spiritual peace, in painting a boat in the springtime not to be obtained otherwise. Burning brush at your camp is an exciting job, full of action and perspiration. Jobs of carpentry require exacting skill and sudden bursts of energy. Gardening often is monotonous. But painting a boat—ah, there is work for a philosopher.

Your thoughts seem to flow with the paint, flatten out, take on a rich color, become smooth and glittering. No man who hasn't painted a boat can really claim to have engaged in thought. I often pity statesmen and college professors, who, poor souls, are expected to think and paid to think and are not really equipped to think, except in the most primitive fashion, because they have never painted a boat in their lives. They won't even know what I'm talking about now—but that is their loss, not mine.

The men who have painted a boat, even though it be the smallest flat-bottomed tub, know what I mean, and they know how to think. Show me a man who owns a flat-bottomed boat and I will show you a man who should be elected to Parliament. But such men won't run for Parliament. After they have painted their boats a few times and had time to think they don't want to run for Parliament. They realize the futility of politics and all the affairs of men. They know that they will never find in public fame an ultimate satisfaction half so keen as the satisfaction of a boat all glistening with new paint, the seams caulked and puttied, the oars varnished.

I dare say, indeed, you will not find in the whole of Canadian Parliament a man who paints boats in the spring, and probably that is what is wrong with the country. However, a man who paints boats thinks so deeply as he quickly strikes the paint on that most likely he wouldn't be acceptable in politics. There the public demands men who act, not men who think. A man who paints boats thinks so deeply between the first coat and the third that his ideas, being true, would never be accepted by the public.

Therefore we painters remain aloof and paint our boats; and even though they be flat-bottomed and home-made, with seams open a quarter of an inch and caulked with old rags and torn shirt-tails, still as we paint them in this spring weather we feel like our ancestors, the Norsemen. We feel the old joy of seamanship and the old thrill of adventure. We are a reckless race.

FOR THE PUBLIC

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT, with a misguided desire to do something for the public, is building a road along the Cowichan River, opening up this wild area to the world. It is a great mistake and it should be stopped before it goes too far and spoils everything.

The public has roads in all directions already, innumerable drives all over the island, and generally the public wants to drive to California or to Bellingham to see a movie which will be shown here next week. Surely some few spots should be preserved for people who don't want to drive, for men who are prepared to walk.

The Cowichan was such a place, where fishermen on foot could get away from the fishermen on foot could get away from the fishermen on foot. Here a man could wade up to his waist in the water and perhaps catch a trout and save his soul alive. Now it is to be opened to the sportsmen who travel in sedans on plush seats and fish off running-boards. There will be no more trout left, of course, after the running-boards fishermen have been admitted, and that is bad enough, considering the past glories of this river.

But worse than that, a kind of ancient shrine, where three generations of British Columbians have worshipped quietly and reverently will be exposed to the unbelievers. A sanctuary will be despoiled with the noise of engines and the smell of gasoline and the idiot laughter of tourists. As it is, the Cowichan is a sacred place for a certain part of our population (the best part, incidentally), but in future it is to be just another Sunday afternoon drive.

PROGRESS REPORT

NO DOUBT YOU HAVE forgotten all about our gold mine, the Golden Calf, but we haven't forgotten it. We have been working away, opening up the country while you have been living a life of soft luxury and ease.

We have been opening up the country in a big way. We have practically opened up a whole mountain with our tunnels that now run through it like a rabbit warren.

Today we had very satisfactory news about our mine. We had a report from the directors, who assured us that if the present explorations discovered any commercial ore the Golden Calf would be a mine, which is certainly very encouraging. It has every thing now—mill, machinery and living quarters—except commercial ore. If the company could keep solvent for a while and find commercial ore, the report said; we would have a mine. That certainly is progress for you.

Curiously enough, every time I mention the Golden Calf several brokers think I am referring slyly to their properties. The Golden Calf has been identified as a mine in the Kootenay, as a claim in Bridge River and as a silver property in Atlin. The brokers flatter themselves. All these guesses are wild, for, as shareholders, we are far too canny to reveal the location of our mine. Most of us don't know and don't want to. What we do know about it is plenty. We have decided to stop gambling and go in for solid investments. We are buying Irish sweepstake tickets.

Success is largely a matter of luck. It isn't intelligence that makes a boy fall in love with a smart, ambitious girl.

A bust-up is usually the wife's fault. She had no business marrying the man if she wasn't smart enough to manage him.

Campaign Funds and Traditional Hopes of Some Politicians

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA.

THE OLD-LINE politicians, who used to be a carefree, backslapping, jovial crew, are a discouraged lot these days around Parliament Hill. They have come to the conclusion that somebody or something is resolutely bent upon taking the joy out of life.

The first blow beneath the politicians' belts and in the general direction of their pockets was the electoral reform legislation introduced by Hon. C. G. Power. That was staggering enough. It meant the end, presumably, of those large central war-chests of the past from which butlers could be shipped so conveniently to local candidates when democracy's triumph depended upon applying the well-known "oil" a little more freely to its machinery. For the proposed law specifies "pitiless publicity" for the source of all central party funds.

THE MEASURES sponsored by Major Power are not, however, of the knockout variety. They simply left the politicians a little groggy. For, in compensation to some extent for their threat to the hitherto-sacred institution of central party funds, they promised to cheaper substantially the cost of elections. There was at least the chance that what the statesmen lost on the swings, they might make up on the roundabouts.

But now comes a second blow. And in comparison with it, the electoral reform legislation becomes the lightest sort of administrative tap on the wrist for the old-line stalwarts of the Liberal Party. What is more, this development comes from headquarters itself, being delivered by none other than Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King himself.

"The government," said Mr. King, "deplorable moneys appropriated by Parliament being used—directly or indirectly—for political partisan purposes. . . . The government is wholly in accord with the principle that moneys appropriated for any purpose whatsoever should not directly or indirectly be made to serve political partisan ends."

Now these words, if they mean anything, and the Prime Minister is not accustomed to speaking to no purpose—can mean only one thing. They mean that the advent of electoral reform heralds the exit of the long day of political expenditure which has lasted, generally speaking, ever since Confederation dawned.

SUCH AN EVENT really deserved a more dramatic setting than Mr. King gave it. But the federal Prime Minister is not much for heroics. Consequently, it was a House, which was so drowsy that his first sentence failed to electrify it which heard the momentous proclamation. It was not until his second sentence had repeated the announcement that the M.P.'s awoke to a realization that, unless their ears had betrayed them, they had just listened to words which were destined to ring down through the political history of the Dominion. But here was a case of a ministry with the greatest fortify in the history of Confederation taking occasion to denounce and renounce all political disbursements of public moneys. Such a thing had never happened before.

Some parliamentary observers, in their skepticism of the moment, have been disposed to dismiss the Liberal chieftain's pronouncement as a classic instance of locking the stable after the horse has been stolen. This is a cynical and unjustified view to take of the matter. For while unquestionably the Dominion would have saved many tens of millions of dollars if the lid had been nailed down on the Parliament Hill "pork-barrel" many years ago, the fact remains that the Dominion is not even approaching the end of its public expenditures.

It is this latter thought which seems so galling to some of the old-line politicians of the Liberal Party in the House. While they are not saying so in public, they have the feeling that the Prime Minister has "let them down."

ANGLO-ITALIAN "FRIENDSHIP"

To the Editor:—In an editorial of April 22 you refer to the concern felt by the French cabinet on account of "Premier Chamberlain shelving, in his pact with Mussolini, the question of the immediate withdrawal of foreign troops and technicians now aiding Franco."

There is yet another question agitating the public mind, to which no answer has been given. I refer to the statement of Premier Chamberlain on foreign policy, following the recent cabinet shake-up, when he declared the discussion of European disarmament would immediately follow successful negotiations with Mussolini. An agreement has been successfully concluded. Mr. Hore-Belisha has returned from Rome glowing with the warmth of Italian friendship, and, in place in disarmament, an intensive speed-up of the manufacture of British bombing planes is the immediate result.

Last month, Mr. Hore-Belisha was quoted as expressing the opinion that the present non-intervention policy was leaving Spain at the mercy of Italy and Germany and endangering the security of Gibraltar, that a "more positive" policy must be adopted in Spain or Mr. Chamberlain must resign within 48 hours. In the face of continued Italian and German aggression and the resulting threat to Gibraltar, it was necessary for something to be done, and, with an Italian rapprochement in view, that "something" must of necessity be agreeable to Mussolini, while at the same time protecting British imperial interests.

Following the Hore-Belisha ultimatum, at a meeting of the Nonintervention Committee, Great Britain proposed a "new formula" to end foreign intervention and achieve "early withdrawal of foreign troops from Spain," and we must remember that it was after the introduction of the new formula that British-Italian friendship reached the peak expressed by the British War Secretary on his return from Rome.

On reading the note sent in April by Great Britain to the League of Nations, we find that, in return for British recognition of Italian rule over Ethiopia, Italy has agreed to keep out of Spain "after the war has ended"—a new formula indeed!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks junk. A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a colonel but have no colonel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 36c.

Builders Hold Annual Dinner

Hundred Guests Hear Prominent Speakers at Exchange Dinner

Lieut.-Col. Brooke Stephenson in addressing the Victoria Builders' Exchange annual meeting held in Spencer's dining-room last evening, stressed the advantages offered citizens of Victoria to improve or build homes, duplexes or apartments through the Home Improvement Plan and the Dominion Housing Act.

The Home Improvement Plan came into existence about two years ago. Since that time 34,815 loans had been made in the entire Dominion of Canada under the plan which entailed a total of $14,188,996.53. The advantages of the plan nevertheless, are known to most of the people.

ADVANTAGES NOT KNOWN

In speaking of the Dominion Housing Act, Col. Stephenson noted lack of knowledge as to the advantages of the scheme shown by the general public. After an advertisement had been placed in the two local newspapers, many enquiries were made about building homes under the act. He also said that in his opinion, the citizens of Victoria are not taking the proper advantages extended through the act.

He urged the support of the contractors and noted that any proper contractor could pass the restrictions under the act which were very little more serious than those under the city laws. In his opinion there was room for more co-operation between the contractors and the architects.

PLEADS NEW OUTLOOK

Major Paul M. K. Crockett pleaded a new outlook on the complaints about heavy taxation in the city. "We should approach the question differently by utilizing the fact that we are getting value for our money, as an argument. Comparatively speaking we pay no higher taxes in the city as are paid in other cities of Canada and the United States for the improvements and facilities found here. In Victoria there are hundreds of lots owned by the city that can be bought on special terms to fit the prospective buyer's pocketbook." Major Crockett said and urged building in the city to strengthen the backbone of Victoria.

James Bennett spoke briefly on the proposed scheme of licensing and bonding the contractors of Victoria. If this were done, he said, the standard of building would be raised and landowners would be encouraged to build.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Alderman Ed. Williams was chairman and gave a list of the new officers of the exchange elected at a meeting prior to the dinner. These are as follows: L. G. Scott, president; W. R. Menzies, vice-president; D. Tripp, A. Frewing, I. McCallan, R. Noble, A. Davies, R. Hurst, J. Johnson, W. A. Loney, A. Parfitt, E. Williams and E. Cox, Builders' Exchange executive.

A letter was read from the Plumbing Board of Examiners which told of the lack of apprentices now felt in the construction industries. The feared result is a lack of skilled workers in a few years. The newly-appointed executive was appointed to look into the question and the need for technical education will be urged.

Radio Used By Forest Guards

Forest Service Extends Shortwave System in Lookouts

The men who keep guard over British Columbia's forest wealth are becoming radio equipped. With the forest fire season opening this month the forest branch plans to extend its system of shortwave radio communications between lookouts and ranger stations.

Experiments with 10 sets last year proved the efficiency of radio in reporting fires, and in places they were found more valuable than telephones, according to experts of the branch.

By the end of this year a large proportion of the 63 lookout stations posted high above the tree-tops may be equipped with portable transmitters and receivers. Forest officials say the radio has proved its usefulness in fire reporting, partly because of its cheapness, as compared to telephone and partly because of its flexibility in that sets can be moved easily when a lookout is shifted. They also eliminate the danger of communication being cut as when fire burns a telephone line. In the main lookouts, however, telephones prove more successful because of the easier communication.

PORTABLE SETS

The fire-fighters are also being instructed in the use of portable sets which can be strapped to their backs while they are on the fire-line. Tested by the United States forest service these have proved very useful in combating fires that cover a large area.

The lookout system is gradually being extended by the forest branch as funds are available, and the trend now is to establish them at lower altitudes. Experience all over the continent has demonstrated that the effective range of a lookout is about 15 miles. Some of the B.C. lookouts have a view of 50 miles or more, but haze interferes with vision at the greater distances.

Forest officials say the value of lookouts is chiefly demonstrated in the virgin forest areas away from settlements. In settled areas fires are usually reported by members of the public in time to be caught before they burn a large territory. But in the unoccupied country the responsibility rests almost wholly with the lookout. In 1932 and 1933 when economy measures forced B.C. to do without its lookout men, the fires which wreaked the greatest havoc were in the unoccupied areas where they were not reported until reaching a large volume.

Logger's Death Was Accidental

Coroner's Jury Investigates Death of I. A. Algars at Jordan River

Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's jury on the death of Ivar Alfred Algars, who was instantly killed in an accident at Jordan River on Saturday last while working as boss of a crew hauling logs under the employ of the Island Logging Company.

David Rattray, hook tender for the crew of which the deceased was head, witnessed the accident from about 60 feet. He said that Algars was working at his usual job when the accident occurred. The crew were changing a line on the second log of the shift when the line became fouled under a root and the signal was given to tighten the line. As the line tightened the root broke off and flew through the air some 150 to 200 feet and struck the deceased on the back of the head as he ran to get clear. The witness also said that there was very little room to dodge, as the underbrush around the scene of the accident was thick. The weather was fine and the underbrush was dry.

Leslie Ross, chokerman of the crew of the Island Logging Company, who also witnessed the accident, verified Rattray's story in his account of the accident. He was approximately 150 feet from Algars when the accident occurred, but he said he could see clearly what happened. John Hanley, first aid man for the Island Logging Company, told how he was summoned to the camp to tend an injured man in the bush. After having to travel about three miles by car to the scene of the accident, the witness stated that he found Algars dead, after the usual examination. Hanley said that the deceased had severe injuries to the back of his head and he was bleeding profusely at the nose.

Coroner Dr. E. S. Hart, in summing up the evidence, said that the government and the compensation board have been working on the reasons for the many deaths that occur in lumber camps, and claim results. Yet, he said, there is still a lot that can be done, even though Algars' death appeared to be accidental.

The jury was made up of the following: William Black, Reginald Richmond, Donald Geddes, David Leeman, Barry Haslock and Ray H. Meldrum.

Annual Hospital Deficit Large

Average Stay of Patient in B.C. Is 14.45 Days

In the last ten years public hospitals in British Columbia have collected in fees, donations and from other sources, exclusive of municipal and provincial governments, only 60 per cent as much as they have had to spend to provide services, according to a compilation by the Provincial Secretary's department.

The result is an annual deficit totalling around $1,500,000, which is mostly made up from the government sources. Both the province and the municipalities make statutory grants.

The analysis by the department covers 70 general public and 28 private hospitals. In the sites, building and equipment there is about $10,000,000 invested. They employed 3,317 persons and had annual payrolls of $2,193,000 in 1936.

In that year 84,044 patients were treated and they stayed an average of 14.45 days. It is estimated that on the average about 69 per cent of the capacity of the hospitals was being used at any one time.

In a study of the hospital deficits, the total expenses for the decade 1927-36 are shown as $34,814,213. Against this the hospitals collected from patients and other private sources $20,220,888, leaving total deficits of $14,593,325. Towards this the governments contributed $13,623,960—$8,066,914 from the province and $5,537,046 from municipalities.

PARIS (AP)—Mme. Suzanne Linder, a secretary in the French Foreign Office until she was arrested in December, 1936, was sentenced Tuesday to eight months in prison for falsifying official documents.

The 40-year-old mother of two children was arrested after a report by counter-espionage agents and admitted forging identification papers for a Lithuanian, Michael Rosenfeld.

Rosenfeld also was arrested, but vanished after he had been released. Yesterday, although still missing, he was sentenced to a total of 31 months on two charges—conspiring to falsify official documents and using false passports.

Aged Women's Home Again Is Full

Annual Reports Show New Wing Fills Community Need

"The friendly spirit of last Wednesday's ceremony will do much to establish the home more firmly in the consciousness of the public, while the fact that practically all the rooms are taken is further proof of the necessity for such an institution. While the changes in the policy of the provincial government are partly responsible for this, there is evidence of a very real need for a home where elderly women can live comfortably and receive nursing care if necessary. It is quite apparent that before the year is ended it will be necessary for us to finish the lower floor of the new wing."

Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president, made the foregoing comment in her presidential address at the annual meeting of the committee of the Aged Women's Home yesterday afternoon. The last year had been one of the most outstanding in the 40 years' history of the home and she paid tribute to the co-operation of the board members and staff which had made the erection of the new wing possible, and also thanked the Lieutenant-Governor and the City Council for their participation in the opening ceremonies.

94 INMATES

Mrs. A. D. Whittier, in her comprehensive report, noted that the home is starting its forty-first year with 94 inmates. During the past year 107 patients have been cared for, of these five left to join relatives or friends and nine have finished their long pilgrimage and passed to their last rest.

Appreciative reference was made to the legacy of $2,000 left by the late Mrs. Dunsmuir to the home and used for furnishings, and to the gifts of clocks received from the Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., and the Bishop Cridge Ministering Circle. Further donations would be gratefully welcomed, the secretary noted.

Thanks were also tendered Miss Robb, the matron, and her efficient staff, to the Ministerial Association and Salvation Army for holding weekly services at the home, to the Times and Colonist for daily papers and all the other generous friends of the institution.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

All the officers were returned by acclamation as follows: Mrs. Wm. Grant, honorary president; Mrs. W. L. Clay, president; Mrs. F. W. Vincent, first vice-president; Mrs. E. Heddie, second vice-president; Mrs. A. D. Whittier, secretary-treasurer.

SHOWER GIFTS

At the monthly meeting following the annual session, the committee expressed its pleasure with the results of the tea and linen shower held last Wednesday and gratification that so many friends took advantage of the occasion to visit and inspect the comforts of the home.

The ladies of the Sunshine Club, Order of the Eastern Star, kindly donated a table radio for the lower sitting-room of the new wing and a number of pieces of linen have been received since the shower, all of which were gratefully acknowledged.

Several applications were received, but as the rooms are practically filled, some could not be accommodated.

The committee for May includes Mrs. H. Grant, Mrs. F. W. Vincent and Mrs. E. Bean.

Canadian Daughters Open Sessions Here

Educational and Benevolent Achievements of Order Reviewed in Address by Mrs. A. C. Ross, President; Mayor Welcomes Delegates From All Parts of Province at Opening in K. of C. Hall

With picturesque ceremonial, the annual sessions of the British Columbia council of the Canadian Daughters' League were formally opened this morning at the Knights of Columbus Hall, which was effectively decorated with spring flowers for the occasion.

CIVIC WELCOME

Mayor Andrew McGavin cordially welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city, commending their work and wishing them every success in their deliberations. Mrs. A. C. Ross, the provincial president, who presided, responded on behalf of the league, and thanked the city fathers for their sympathetic interest in the league's undertakings on behalf of the community.

Mr. W. J. Holman brought greetings from the Native Sons of Canada, which were acknowledged by Mrs. J. J. Pochin, Vancouver, provincial first vice-president; greetings from Victoria groups were voiced by Mrs. Evelyn Stewart, with Mrs. J. D. Turner, Kamloops, responding.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Mrs. Ross, in her presidential address, welcomed the national president, Mrs. A. M. B. Lewis, Vancouver; Mrs. H. Perkins, national secretary; Mrs. G. MacLeod, Vancouver, past national president; Mrs. H. S. Whitney, national treasurer, and delegates from 14 assemblies, numbering in all around 60.

After referring to the growing membership and the splendid co-operation between league members, Mrs. Ross spoke of the work of the individual assemblies, each one taking a very definite place in the community and working for educational and benevolent achievements, as she had learned during her official visit to the assemblies recently.

The smaller assemblies, due to their isolated position, work independently, according to the needs of the community; they assist in providing milk for school children, take part in holiday celebrations by having decorated floats to raise money for benevolent purposes, assist individual needy cases during the year with Christmas hamper. One assembly undertook the care and treatment of a young woman through an operation and subsequently provided her with an artificial limb; through a loan fund a student has been assisted toward the completion of her education.

CULTURAL INTERESTS

Interassembly committees facilitate work common to several assemblies in the larger centres; as, for instance, the drama festival in Vancouver recently, where assemblies competed for a silver trophy. This will be an annual event. The league is also affiliated with the folk song and dance festival committee, and send annually exhibits of pottery, handicrafts and articles antique and modern, Mrs. Ross noted.

Funds are raised for benevolent and educational work by bridge teas, catering for suppers, quilt raffles, decorated floats and tag days.

The league was well represented at the Pan-Pacific Conference in Vancouver last July, and contributed $25 to the committee for arrangements, supplemented by a personal donation of $25 from one of the members.

PAPER MOOTED

The publication of a league organ is expected, shortly, to be called Cedeell, to provide a contact among assemblies. It will contain articles of interest on handicrafts, articles on eminent Canadians, Canadian literature, drama, etc.

The president also touched upon the league's desire for a Canadian flag, and advocated a deeper study of Canadian affairs, the Canadian Constitution and current events with a greater interest in public affairs, and urged the women to be ready to accept more responsibility.

Community Club Is Busy on Fete

The monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Community Club was held in the Guild Room of St. Paul's Church House on Monday evening, 44 members being present and three new members welcomed. Mrs. McVie, president, was in the chair.

Mr. L. Howe reported $20.40 had been made from the monster card party and extended thanks to all who aided this effort.

Mrs. T. Jennings, convener of the garden fete to be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Rickard, "Rosemead," Lampson Street, on Wednesday, June 8, reported plans well on the way and many donations received. A social taking of the form of a shower for the summer sale will be held at Mrs. Raymond's, 908 Esquimalt Road, on Monday evening, May 16. Admission will be by donation towards the various stalls.

Another big card party will be held in St. Paul's Church House on Friday evening, May 20, at 8. Chinaware will be offered as prizes and 500 and court whist will be played. At the close of the meeting humorous recitations were given by Mr. J. Nelson, and tea was served by Mrs. W. Petrie and her committee. The cushion was won by Mrs. H. Sweeney, Head Street.

General's Son and Bride

A honeymoon cruise around the world was the pleasant prospect facing F. Warren Pershing and his bride, above, as they emerged from New York's St. Thomas's Church after being married. The occasion was doubly joyful for the newlyweds because it marked the recovery of the bridegroom's father, Gen. John J. Pershing, who came from Arizona to attend the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Beckman and granddaughter of Jules S. Bache. The wedding was attended by many persons prominent in United States society and public life.

Are Married Again At Doorn

Kaiser Sees His Grandson Wed Romanoff Bride

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Foreign Staff
DOORN, The Netherlands.—The loneliness of exile was broken for the former German Kaiser today as his favorite grandson led the Russian ex-Grand Duchess Kira before him for marriage into the House of Hohenzollern.

The quiet Louis Ferdinand, son of the former German Crown Prince, and Kira, daughter of the claimant to the vanished Russian crown, already had gone through two marriage ceremonies.

But the two houses, their monarchies toppled with the Great War in which they were in opposing sides, were not considered formally united until today's ceremony before the head of the Hohenzollerns himself.

The palace at the outskirts of Doorn, to which the Kaiser fled after the war, was crowded with nobility and royalty for the Protestant ceremony in charge of the former ruler's private chaplain, Rev. Herr Doehring.

Those witnessing the service, many of whom also attended the civil and orthodox Russian ceremony Monday at Potsdam, included nearly all the Hohenzollerns and the family of ex-Grand Duke Cyril of the Romanoffs.

There were also Crown Princess Juliana, heir to The Netherlands throne, and her husband, Prince Bernhard.

Rumors of a new marital rift between Muriel Sisman Dodge, top, and Horace E. Dodge, below, Detroit, son of the late automobile manufacturer, have been heard in social circles recently. There were reports in Detroit that a divorce suit had been filed, but the only record of a divorce suit was a petition filed by Dodge August 11, 1933, and which was dismissed October 1, 1936. Dodge and his wife were married in England in 1928.

Books Entree To Many Adventures

Prof. Dilworth Tells Women Of His Discovery Of England

Literature provides the "open sesame" to places closed to the ordinary traveler, and makes possible meetings with outstanding personalities down through the ages, Professor Ira Dilworth told the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon in his delightful causerie entitled "My Discovery of England."

NO LIMITATIONS

The delights of traveling "without any limitations of time and space and with none of the bodily discomforts attaching to journeys in stifling trains and over stormy seas," were extolled by Mr. Dilworth in his preamble as he recalled journeys made all over the world through the medium of books.

His first acquaintance with England and its history was made under the patronage of Charles Dickens. Another "delightful guide" was Samuel Pepys—the most interesting asides upon which the speaker had ever "visited" London.

MEDIAEVAL ENGLAND

Mr. Dilworth also recalled a trip to medieval England made with Geoffrey Chaucer, when many fascinating personalities were met at the Tabard Inn in Canterbury. His acquaintance with the English countryside, with its daffodils, skylarks and nightingales, was made in the company of such celebrities as Shakespeare, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Tennyson, Keats, A. E. Housman and Mary Webb.

His latest excursion had been with J. B. Priestley, when he had met young Englishmen of today, whose radical views were merely a modern expression of that love of life which had come down through the ages as a tradition, the real spirit of England.

In conclusion the speaker urged the women to encourage the children of Canada to travel in imagination, spiritually through the ages, for only thus could be obtained a proper perspective, through which to tackle the bewildering problems which make up this tangled world today.

Mrs. Harold Campbell, the president, was in the chair, and Mrs. H. H. Smith tendered the thanks of the gathering to the speaker.

MUSICAL NUMBERS

In the unavoidable absence of Brian Renwick, who was to have sung, Mrs. Harry Morden contributed two delightful piano numbers, "May Night" (Palmgren) and "Hungaria" (Macdowell). As an encore, she played "Happy Hours" (Friedman-Gluck).

Mrs. Harold Campbell, the president, announced that at the meeting on May 17 the speaker would be Mrs. Gervase Chambers, on "The Romance of Tea," and on this occasion club members may bring guests. Mrs. Campbell also announced that the bridge luncheon had netted the sum of $82.47 for the bursary fund.

The annual meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday, June 14, and the following nominating committee was appointed: Mrs. R. R. Taylor, convener; Mrs. A. V. Clarke, Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Mrs. C. H. French.

Mrs. Campbell will be the club's delegate to the conference of Women's Canadian Clubs in Montreal on June 2 and 3.

T. Crabbe Retains Operatic Trophy

High Marks in Piano Classes Feature of Musical Festival Sessions

Close competition in the men's open operatic class, exceptional praise for the two finalists in intermediate piano solo, and criticism by the adjudicator of the test pieces selected for Grade A sopranos were features of the first evening session of the 12th annual Victoria Musical Festival last night.

The session, held in First United Church, started a few minutes after 8 and continued to 11.50.

The Frederick Delius Cup for the operatic class was retained by last year's winner, Thomas Crabbe, who received 88 marks from the adjudicator, Stuart Wilson, for his rendition of the "Largo al Facotum" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville."

Norman Tyrrell, singing "Ritorno" from "La Bohème," was second with 87.

In his adjudication on the winner's performance Mr. Wilson said the singer had shown excellent rhythm and diction, qualities which had been largely missing in the other performances. He also had the power of varying the quality of the sounds he produced.

Commenting on the class as a whole, he said: "Some of the singers would have been murdered by conductors. Some people seem to think an operatic aria is an opportunity for expressing a whole lot of mixed emotions and an occasion to slip out of time. Actually it is essential to keep time."

PIANISTS EXCEPTIONAL

"Two exceptional pianists" was the comment of Maurice Jacobson on the playing of the two finalists in the intermediate piano class.

He awarded Robin Wood 349 marks for his performance of the two test pieces at the afternoon and evening sessions, and Elizabeth Angus 344.

The pieces were Bach's Fugue No. 5 in C Major and Debussy's "Gottswig's Cake-walk."

"Both these pianists have a sense of clear, vital tone production," he said. "We must not sing, we must not play and we must not live without our imaginations being alive."

He said the winner's key control was a model of what it should be, and gave special praise to his playing in the Bach piece.

SOPRANO CLASS

Adjudicating the soprano solo class, Mr. Wilson poked fun at the test pieces, "The Rivals," by Deems Taylor, and "A Spirit Flower," by Campbell-Tipton.

Of the former he said, "Archness is a quality that is rapidly becoming extinct in woman, and I hope this is one of its last surviving appearances in music."

The latter he described as "rich sentiment laid on twice as thick as molasses and half as nice," and said that the line "All thought of happiness expired at birth" was an all-time low in poetry.

Edna Burgess took first place in this class with a mark of 171 for singing of which the adjudicator said, commenting on the second piece, "she phrases the music so well we forget it is earache."

Eleanor Hotson, Duncan, was second with 170.

CHOIRS HEARD

Two choral classes were heard during the evening, the final of the grade 6 choir section and the commercial and other choral society class.

The Parfitt Brothers Cup in the latter class went to the Elgar Choir of North Saanich, conducted by J. W. Buckler, the only competitors. Last year's winners, the Hudson's Bay Beaver Club Choir, did not enter.

Mr. Wilson, adjudicating this class, said the singing was accurate but failed to catch the rhythm of the two pieces, "The Viking's Song," by Coleridge-Taylor, and German's "Who Is Sylvia?"

Finalists in the grade 6 choir class were Quindra, Sir James Douglas and Victoria West schools. Sir Hugh Robertson said Victoria West was the best by a very narrow margin.

BAD ARTICULATION

In his adjudication he assembled all the choirs on the stage and gave them a long lecture of the importance of articulation.

"You might as well expect singing without articulation as you might expect a man or woman to walk around the world without bones or sinews," he said. "Good vocal articulation always bespeaks a vital state of mind. Loose articulation bespeaks a loose way of thinking." He suggested to teachers they train their classes in articulation for some time before starting on singing at all.

Sir Hugh stressed the same point at the afternoon session in his adjudication on the non-competitive grade 1, 2 and 3 choir classes. He brought his points home to the choirs by making them repeat passages until they satisfied him.

WINS SENIOR PIANO

First place in the senior piano solo class was taken at the afternoon session by Lois A. Hamblett with a mark of 91.90-181 for her playing of Beethoven's "Largo con gran espressione" and York Bowen's "A Romp."

Martha Ferguson of Ladysmith was second with 85.86-171.

The winner's playing was quite outstanding, Mr. Jacobson said. He called it "work of considerable achievement and still higher promise."

BOY-PIANIST PRAISED

High praise was also given to Bernard M. Hick, the only entry in the pre-intermediate class. Mr. Jacobson said he was "a very talented young man, and gave him 89.89-178 for his rendition of a Mozart minuet and William's "Summer Time."

"He is unmistakably a good, natural pianist with good touch and good musical brains," he added.

Outside competitors continued to walk off with the awards in the elocution classes during the afternoon: Mavis Dunsmore, Nanaimo, placed first in the class for girls over 16 and under 19 years with 90 marks. Mrs. C. H. Dunbar gave second place to two Victoria competitors, Ruth Horton and Clemency Ord.

Elsie Gray, Vancouver, carried off first place in the Canadian poetry class for the 12 to 17-year-old bracket with the exceptional mark of 91. Another Vancouver girl, Patricia J. Corley, was second, one mark behind the winner.

METCHOSIN

A capacity audience was present Friday evening at Metchoshin Community Hall for a variety entertainment in aid of the hall renovation fund. The following Victoria artists contributed: Mrs. F. G. Aldous, Miss Wynne Shaw, James McGrath and Bill Orchard. The Metchoshin Dramatic Society, under the direction of Mrs. H. M. Bolton, presented "Thursday Evening."

"She'll Always Be YOUNG!"

Medical testimony (from the Pharmacological Institute of the University of Bern): "The effects after taking Phyllosan are: a sensation of general well-being, disappearance of depression and of the feeling of insurmountable fatigue... The subject, so to speak, experiences a new lease on life... Phyllosan activates all the physical and vital forces."

WHEN men wish to express their admiration for the charm of a woman past forty, they can say nothing so apt as "She'll always be young!" For, truly, youthful vitality is the essence of all feminine charm. Have you ever seen a charming woman without it?

Ready energy, buoyant good spirits, the warmth that springs from overbrimming, joyous vitality... these, taken together, are feminine charm. And if vitality is retained, then charm is retained, even with the passing of years. For the charm that flows from vitality is actually enriched by the understanding and poise that comes with maturity.

The secret of charm in women past 35 or 40 lies in knowing how to maintain vitality.

And it can be done. The experience of thousands of women shows conclusively that, through the simple use of PHYLLOSAN, the unnecessary devaluation of premature middle-age may be avoided.

PHYLOSAN TABLETS help enrich your blood... strengthen your nerves... build up your reserves of vital power. Recommended by many physicians, especially to those past 40.

NO ALBERTA POLICE CHANGE

Dominion Declines to Withdraw R.C.M.P. Before Contract Ends in 1940

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Government rejected an Alberta proposal to discontinue policing of the province by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police because the contract for this work will not expire until 1940, it was disclosed in the House of Commons Tuesday afternoon.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, tabled the correspondence between the Dominion and Alberta governments. The Alberta Legislature had decided last October 4 the agreement with the Dominion should be terminated and the provincial government should as soon as possible re-establish the Alberta provincial police. Premier Aberhart communicated the decision to Mr. Lapointe January 6.

"In compliance with the resolution we wish to notify you that we will no longer require the services of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the policing of the province after March 31, 1938," Mr. Aberhart wrote.

Mr. Lapointe replied January 17 that on examination of terms of the resolution and terms of the Dominion-Alberta agreement of June 1, 1936, it appeared to him the Alberta premier's notice "is not in accordance with the terms of either the resolution or the agreement, and I regret, therefore, that I have no alternative but to treat it as having no effect."

BIG MAJORITY

Admitting the Legislature resolution possibly was not particularly well phrased, Mr. Aberhart replied February 4 it had been passed "by a large majority of the members of the House and was intended to serve as notice to your government that the services of the R.C.M.P. were no longer required in this province."

"I desire, if possible, to arrive at an amicable adjustment of the difficulty which presents itself," the Alberta premier added. "If your government considers that my letter has given an unreasonable short notice but would be willing to terminate the agreement and release this province from any liability at the expiration of a further period of two or three months, that is, as of June 1 or July 1 next, my government would be only too happy to have the present notice withdrawn and substitute a notice effective as of a later date."

"If, however, no such adjustment can be made, I shall feel obliged to have legislation brought down at the sittings of the Legislature opening on the 10th instant providing for the termination of the agreement."

Mr. Lapointe telegraphed the Alberta premier February 9: "Agreement provides minimum terms which may not be terminated until May 31, 1940, and then only by appropriate notice. Agreement made at your request and minimum term was included therein for economic administrative and operative purposes. In view of contract one between governments involving important public question as well as for economic reasons I am unable to recommend to Dominion Government that it consent to any variation of terms of agreement."

One of the special features of the afternoon session will be the joint meeting with ministerial delegates for the purpose of hearing an address by Dr. G. W. Wilson, M.A., D.D., of First United Church, Victoria, on his "Impressions of the Edinburgh and Ox-

Court Hearing On Blasphemy

Author of Play and 21 Cast Members to Appear May 10 in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Gustave Robitaille, described as author of the Deluge, a two-act Biblical play, halted in a police raid last April 23, today was under orders of Judge Maurice Tetreau to appear May 10 for voluntary statement on a charge of written blasphemous libel.

Robitaille and all 21 members of the play's cast were arrested by provincial police, who raided the little hall, jammed by nearly 500 persons. Members of the cast will appear with the author May 10 on charges of oral blasphemy.

Dr. Damien Jasmin of the University of Montreal, with a doctorate in law and philosophy, who was called as an expert witness, told Judge Tetreau yesterday the script contained blasphemous libel.

"It is a parody on Biblical passages," he said, "notably the passage relative to the Deluge. The style is ribald and obscene, mingling the most holy and most sacred things with the most filthy and disgusting."

Detective Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police testified costumed performers were on the stage when he arrived at the hall where the play was being presented. One represented the Pariah Noah and others his sons, Shem, Ham, Japheth, and their wives.

Dean Scores Third Victory

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

DESPITE THE approaching Kentucky Derby and the revealing preps preceding it, turfmen and racegoers continue to discuss the great match between Seabiscuit and War Admiral at Belmont Park, May 30. Shrewd California horsemen are of the opinion that Seabiscuit's best distance is a mile and an eighth. They have two nose finishes to support their argument. In the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap of 1937 and '38, Seabiscuit was caught and beaten a few jumps from the wire first by Rosemont and then by the lightly weighted three-year-old, Stagehand, neither of which, in their opinion, can be ranked with War Admiral. The distance on each occasion was a mile and a quarter, which is exactly how far Seabiscuit and War Admiral are to go.

It is the belief of Eddie Thomas, the Bay Meadows starter, that Seabiscuit was short in his last trip on the Pacific Coast. That's important, because the son of Hard Tack went a mile and an eighth in the $15,000 added Bay Meadows Handicap. However, it may not be so important that Trainer Tom Smith cannot get him ready for the longer route.

A competent California judge insists that in the Bay Meadows Handicap it was a case of life and death for Seabiscuit to get in front of Primulus, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, and that the Charles S. Howard animal flattened out in the stretch to permit Gosum to pick up several lengths on him. And George Wolf wasn't sparing the whip on the 1937 handicap champion. The point is that Primulus, though a speed horse, couldn't warn War Admiral up going one furlong or 10, and that the top racing son of Man of War would lose Gosum after turning for home in a mile and an eighth race.

Kentucky Derby battle lines draw tighter as barrier day approaches. Present indications are that no more than a dozen will go postward at historic Churchill Downs Saturday. Menow, the future winner and the future hook favorite, appears to be an extremely doubtful starter. If he doesn't get to the post, the Hal Price Headley colt will only have suffered the fate of so many earlier future book choices. It also will mean that another year will have passed in which a future winner did not bag the big number in Louisville. A future winner has yet to score in the Derby.

Fighting Fox, a full brother of Gallant Fox, appears to be the first thoroughbred in history with a fine chance to duplicate the feats of a famous full brother, Bourbon King's victory in the Chesapeake Stakes jumps the winning chances of Menow's stablemate by many points. Dauber is almost certain to start.

The Foxcatcher, Farm candidate's first start, since his second to Stagehand in the Santa Anita Derby, was a really brilliant victory in mud. He came from last place at the half-way mark to win going away. Bull Lea is the big talk in Kentucky at the moment. His record-breaking race at Keeneland, in which Menow could do no better than third, gave him every right to pretensions toward a derby victory.

Joe Dimaggio says he did it for the kids. The most persistent holdout of the 1938 baseball season asserts that he received 50 or 60 letters, mostly from children, asking him to "get back in there."

So Dimaggio took Col. Jacob Ruppert's $25,000 and caught a train for New York. The young Yankee center fielder still believes that he is worth more than the club has agreed to pay him. He says that while he remained in San Francisco, he was neither advised to remain there or to come east. Dimaggio declares that if he is getting a bonus, someone is keeping it a big secret.

"As far as I know," he asserts, "I won't even get the full $25,000." Officially, he was docked $162.33 for every day he missed, but those knowing Colonel Ruppert and the Yankees believe that this money will be refunded at the end of the campaign. Charley Ruffing, a year ago held out longer than Dimaggio did this trip, but, following his world series victory last fall, the red-head was told by Colonel Ruppert (Turn to Page 12, Col. 3)

Hurls Seven Innings As Chicago Beats Phillies 5-2; Giants Go Under

The old gashouse gang ain't what it used to be. In fact, it hardly has recovered from the shock it received when its great mouthpiece, Dizzy Dean, was sold up the river to Chicago. But with a flock of new gas housers beginning to show promise, St. Louis Cardinals may have their usual place to say about the National League baseball pennant race.

Latest to encourage the fans' hope that St. Louis may trouble the National League's pennant contenders even if it can't finish on top are Lon Warneke, veteran right hander, and the new battery of Bill McGee and Herb Bremer.

Warneke has won his last two starts in fine style. McGee, getting his first trial as a starting pitcher, probably clinched a job as a ball player when he limited Boston Bees to six hits and fanned six to outpoint the able Lou Fette, 3 to 2. Bremer, who may fill the Cards' demand for a regular catcher, provided the first two runs with a homer, and Don Guttridge made the third the same way.

THIRD FOR DEAN

Meanwhile Dean, who retired from a game last week with a sore pitching arm, worked his flipper for seven good innings against the Phillies and got credit for Chicago's 5 to 2 victory. Diz was hit hard and looked tired when he turned over the job to Charley Root, but the Cubs gave him enough support to make up for any shortcomings. It was Dizzy's third victory.

The victory put the Cubs closer to the top as Cincinnati's Reds brought New York Giants' 11-game winning streak to an undignified end by beating the league leaders, 10 to 2. While Paul Derringer pitched eight-hit ball, the Reds collected six runs and the game in the fifth when Hal Schumacher found his old time jinx over Cincinnati no longer was effective.

Brooklyn's star rookie, Forrest Presnell, handed Pittsburgh Pirates their fifth straight defeat as the Dodgers' man-in-facture a six-run seventh inning to win, 7 to 2.

The American League standings were shuffled as Philadelphia's Athletics hopped from eighth to sixth place and Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees slid past Washington.

With Buck Ross hurling five-hit ball and getting the benefit of a six-run outburst in the third, the A's trimmed Chicago White Sox, 7 to 2. Cleveland's league leaders outlasted the Senators, 10 to 9, as Ken Keltner, rookie third sacker, clouted two homers and a single to drive in six runs. Old Lefty Grove went 10 innings to beat Detroit, 4 to 3, for his third victory. He whiffed six Lou Gehrig's first four-ply wallow of the season cheered New York Yankees' fans and helped beat St. Louis Browns, 5 to 1. It came in the four-run first inning. Lou also hit a double and Tommy Henrich tossed in a homer.

COAST LEAGUE

Pacific Coast League baseball fans today can thank blustering Bill Lane, president of the San Diego club, for saving them the price of a hot dog in bleacher admission prices.

Greeted daily shortly after the start of the season by almost empty bleacher seats, Lane defied league president W. C. Tuttle and cut the prices from 50c to 40c. League directors at the start of the season had voted to boost the price to 50c.

Lane asked a telegraphic vote of the directors to back his action. He got a four-way tie and a $100 fine from the league president. Lane refused to pay the fine, and said he would continue to charge 40c, whether the directors liked it or not.

Yesterday Tuttle announced another telegraphic vote favored the reduction, and it was ordered into effect at once.

The San Diego team then celebrated their boss's victory by trimming Oakland, 8 to 4. Paced by relief pitcher Jimmy Crandall, son of Doc Crandall, who pitched for Los Angeles some years ago, Hollywood Stars staged a five-run seventh inning uprising to defeat Portland Beavers, 8 to 4, and go into a tie with the Beavers for the league leadership.

Gene Lillard, who played every position but catcher for San Francisco last season before being sold to Los Angeles, pitched the Angels into a tie for third place with Sacramento last night. He limited the Sacramento team to four hits, while team mate Rip Collins' home run with the bases loaded went a (Turn to Page 12, Col. 1)

STEEPLECHASE LISTED MAY 24

Event For John Fry Cup to Highlight Equestrian Features at Willows

A well-balanced card of horse races, including the annual Victoria Grand National for the John Fry Cup, has been arranged for the hospital meet and field sports at the Willows on May 24. To encourage local riders officials have eliminated professional riders. All entries must be bona fide saddle horses and must be ridden by gentlemen riders with a minimum weight 140 pounds. This should assure a real race, as a big list of entries have already been received.

R. Shanks, the well-known motorcycle rider, with Jeff Edge low, were the first to nominate their horses, with other entries from Duncan and the mainland. The following program is assured up to the present date:

Ladies' race, half mile—No thoroughbreds, open.

Gents' race, half mile—No thoroughbreds, open.

Relay race, about five-eighths mile—Members of Victoria Riding Club.

The Lieut. Governor's purse—Open, minimum weight 120 pounds.

The Victoria annual Grand National—One and a half miles.

100 yards—Schoolboys' race for the Canadian Legion Pro Patria Branch Cup, to be held for one year by the boy winning same.

100 yards—Girls' race. Mayor A. McGavin Cup.

Half mile cycle race and one mile cycle race.

Seven big motorcycle events and grand tug-of-war, assuring all patrons a full afternoon of sports of all descriptions.

Mr. Grundy started at 10 to 1, Bultoi at 100 to 8, and Le Chikur at 8 to 1. A field of 17, including Fates Vos Jeux, the 1937 winner, ran in the 2 1/2-mile handicap, feature event of the fashionable Chester meeting.

Immediately the race was finished the objection flag was hoisted. As usual no reasons for the protest were made public but it was rejected by the stewards after a quick hearing. It was thought the protest was probably based on bumping around the final bend. While the issue of the protest was in doubt bookmakers accepted odds of 1 to 3 on Mr. Grundy keeping the race, as he did.

The historic event was run in brilliant weather. The going was firm and there was a large attendance. The Aga Khan's Dharapur, 7 to 1 favorite, was drawn near the inside and set the pace, clear from Bultoi, Mr. Grundy, Le Chikneur, Carlino, Fates Vos Jeux, and Flaxley Tom, with Punch and Mormond Hill, who were slowly away, the last.

lands Golf Club will be played on Sunday, with a large field expected to go after the title at present retained by Harold Brynjolfson, who will defend his crown.

Entries will close on Friday at 4 when the draw will be made. Match play will start the following Sunday and continue until the new champion is named.

It was stated that a Vancouver squad will be brought over to appear in a twin bill at the Athletic Park on May 24. Games will start at 2.30 and 6. When the five United States drivers wheel their cars out onto the Langford speedway on Saturday night for the opening meet of the season, Tony West of Salem, Oregon, seen above, will be one pilot that will take a lot of beating. The first race will get under way at 8.

Mr. Grundy Wins Chester Cup Race

10 to 1 Shot Captures Handicap in England; Bultoi Is Second

CHESTER, Eng. (CP)—Sir Abe Bailey's Mr. Grundy, a colt of Son-in-law from Dora, today won the 11th running of the Chester Cup, defeating Mrs. W. Murray's Bultoi by 1 1/2 lengths. Rex Cohen's Le Chikneur was third, eight lengths back.

Mr. Grundy started at 10 to 1, Bultoi at 100 to 8, and Le Chikur at 8 to 1. A field of 17, including Fates Vos Jeux, the 1937 winner, ran in the 2 1/2-mile handicap, feature event of the fashionable Chester meeting.

Immediately the race was finished the objection flag was hoisted. As usual no reasons for the protest were made public but it was rejected by the stewards after a quick hearing. It was thought the protest was probably based on bumping around the final bend. While the issue of the protest was in doubt bookmakers accepted odds of 1 to 3 on Mr. Grundy keeping the race, as he did.

The historic event was run in brilliant weather. The going was firm and there was a large attendance. The Aga Khan's Dharapur, 7 to 1 favorite, was drawn near the inside and set the pace, clear from Bultoi, Mr. Grundy, Le Chikneur, Carlino, Fates Vos Jeux, and Flaxley Tom, with Punch and Mormond Hill, who were slowly away, the last.

The Seals, with Dominic DiMaggio leading the attack with a double and three singles in five times at bat, beat the Seattle outfit, 7 to 4.

COMMEMORATE RIDGE BATTLES

Princess Pats Will Honor Comrades Who Fell in France

To commemorate the battle of Frezenberg and Bellewaerde Ridges and to honor the memory of comrades who laid down their lives during this action, B Company, P.P.C.L., together with a number of ex-members of the unit from Victoria and district and from Vancouver, will attend divine service at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday.

After the service a wreath will be laid on the War Memorial by Lieut.-Col. M. R. TenBroeke, M.C., a former commanding officer of the regiment. Col. TenBroeke and Major J. N. Edgar, M.C., officer commanding B Company, stationed at Work Point Barracks, were both present with the regiment at Frezenberg.

All ex-members of the regiment are invited to attend this parade. Ex-Patrics are asked to assemble at Johnson Street Bridge at 10.15 a.m., where they will be marshalled by Lieut.-Col. TenBroeke, and join the present B Company for the parade to the cathedral. After the service at the War Memorial, they are asked to return with B Company to Work Point Barrack.

HOLDS MANY MEMORIES

This time of year is heavy with significance in the annals of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. To the survivors of those gallant units which held the enemy at bay in front of Ypres, and later took part in the capture of Vimy Ridge, the spring months hold many memories.

On April 22, 1915, the Germans started a heavy and determined drive on Ypres from the north and northeast; on April 27 this effort ended in complete failure. The glory of preventing this planned advance by the enemy falls chiefly on units of the First Canadian division.

Eleven days later the Germans made their second desperate attempt to break through our positions, farther north, where it fell on the 80th Brigade of the 27th British division. In this action, known officially as the battles of Frezenberg and Bellewaerde Ridges, the full shock of the attack was met by Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. As a part of the 80th Brigade, B.E.F., the Patricia's were holding a forward position essential to the security of Ypres, and directly in the path of the enemy assaults. This battle is distinct in that, for his success, the enemy relied not on poison gas but on what was probably the most overwhelming superiority of artillery fire ever concentrated upon British trenches.

REORGANIZED

During the preliminary bombardment, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry had their left flank laid bare and all communication with the rear cut off. When the morning of May 8 came, they found themselves a mere remnant of a battalion, isolated from their friends. The survivors, however, from obliterated trenches and shell holes, reorganized into a "position," were successful in holding off three German attacks during the day. Nightfall found the small Patricia's still in possession of the ground they had occupied at the commencement of the action.

Canada, through the efforts of the 1st Canadian division in the earlier attacks and the glorious stand of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry against the second enemy advance, justly can claim the second battle of Ypres as her own. It instilled into the units which later made up the Canadian Corps that courage and determination so splendidly manifested at all times during the period of the Great War.

WEIR DEFENDS CHOIR POLICY

Music Given Highest Status in Schools in B.C. History, He Tells Festival

Music now has a more prominent place in the course of studies of the schools of British Columbia than ever before, and probably than in any other part of Canada, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, said last night as he formally dedicated Victoria's 12th annual musical festival in First United Church.

The minister gave over almost all his short address to an explanation of the Department of Education's policy of eliminating competition in public school group entries in the festival.

Earlier in the day, at the afternoon session, the policy had drawn some jibes from Sir Hugh Robertson, adjudicator of the choral classes of the festival.

Dr. Weir questioned a statement printed in the festival program that the department's policy "threatened to result in the withdrawal from our festival of all public school group entries, both choral and folk dancing, with the possibility of an active campaign to discourage the participation of individual pupils in vocal solo and instrumental classes."

"Our objective," he said, "is to encourage participation by schools, but in the best possible circumstances. . . I can say officially that the department assumes no control as far as individual participation in the festival is concerned."

The change of policy with regard to choirs had been made after careful consideration by the experts who were in charge of music in the schools of the province, he continued. The change was really only the substitution of a grading system for a marking system, and it brought music on a par with other school subjects.

ACCEPTED FOR CREDIT

He then went on to say that in the last year music had been given a much higher status in the schools, and was now accepted for both junior and senior matriculation credits on a basis of equality with all other subjects.

Dr. Richard Felton, president of the Victoria Musical Festival Association, commented: "It is nice to know we have the minister behind us."

During the afternoon session Sir Hugh Robertson said of the non-competitive idea for school choirs: "I know it is an experiment, and we must wait and see how it works. But I would like to say right away that what I have heard does not strike a high standard."

"I am shorn of my strength (to give marks) for some obscure and insubstantial reason which I cannot find out."

Dr. Felton presented the Sir Joshua Reynolds' Cup for top honors in the annual festival poster contest to F. W. de P. Taylor of Sooke, and second and third prizes to Dora Caley, Victoria High School, and Derek Horne, Oak Bay High School.

ADVERTISING RIGHT UPHELD

Court Rules Outside Dentists May Use Papers in B.C.

Prohibition against advertising under the provincial Dental Act does not apply to practice carried on outside British Columbia, Chief Justice Martin held in explaining his views of the judgment which allowed the appeal of David Cowan against a Supreme Court ruling seeking to establish that prohibitions in his case.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran brought in a dissenting judgment.

The action was taken under the Dental Act against Cowan, a dentist practicing in Spokane, who advertised in newspapers and over the radio in British Columbia.

In another judgment, the court dismissed the appeal of Banta Singh over the disallowance of habeas corpus proceedings taken on his behalf in an immigration case.

The Chief Justice explained the application for habeas corpus had been taken prematurely. The court's ruling did not take into consideration the question of jurisdiction, he said. Proceedings under the Immigration Act should continue and the points of controversy should be more clearly defined, he added.

Judgments in two more appeals are scheduled to be brought down at a sitting called for that purpose on Tuesday next.

Honor Departed In "Craigdarroch"

With a more serious note than it has sounded for some time, Craigdarroch, annual Victoria College publication, comes from the presses this year with splendid tributes to the memory of the father of the college, the late Dr. E. B. Paul; to one of its former students of promise, the late Lionel Backler, and with a memorial note to another, the late Brock Lapointe.

Tastefully bound in blue suede covers, the magazine carries in its 64 pages a good digest of college activities during the year, notes of a lighter vein, personals and clever short stories, sketches, pictures and verse.

It maintains the generally good standard of previous editions.

Single Ring On Traffic Signal

Police Chief J. A. McLeishan this morning drew attention to the fact that the one bell system on automatic traffic signals is being experimented with at the Yates and Blanshard Street intersection.

"We believe the one bell system to be an improvement over the former two rings, as it serves to speed up traffic movement," the chief said. He asked public co-operation in moving speedily when crossing the intersection. If the experiment is found to be successful it is intended to change all the Douglas Street lights to one bell, the chief said.

Members of the Victoria Horticultural Society, at their meeting at the City Hall last night, heard a lecture on "Alpine Planting" by H. A. Preece, who gave members much valuable information about where and how alpine plants should be planted. A. Mitchell and W. Player won the prizes in the open class for tulips and Miss B. P. Morley was given first place in the novice class. A. S. Derman and W. S. Duncan won prizes in the cabbage class.

At a meeting held Monday of the Committee for Medical Aid for China it was stated that 1,000 bandages were now completed, wrapped and had been sent to the Royal Jubilee Hospital to be sterilized. These will go out, together with two cases of old clothes, to China on the S. Empress of Asia, which will leave on May 14. This represents the first shipment to be sent by the committee and will go to the hospital unit established in central China under the direction of Dr. Norman Bethune and sponsored by the Canadian League for Peace and Democracy. In completing this number of bandages the stock of white linen and cotton became practically exhausted. In response to renewed appeals, linen is coming in and it is hoped that individuals and organizations will provide the material for another 1,000 bandages which the committee wishes to complete this month.

Fifteen days' imprisonment was the punishment meted out to William Blain, alias Paul Johnson, of Saskatoon, a transient who pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to vagrancy. He was arrested yesterday afternoon after attempting to beg the price of a meal from Constable Peris Atkinson. The officer said he smelled liquor on the accused's breath at the time.

Outsiders Take Festival Honors

Vancouver Girl Junior Elocution Champion; Tacoma Singers Win Two Classes

Competitors from outside Victoria carried away the honors in three of the principal classes adjudicated at this morning's session of the twelfth annual Victoria Musical Festival which kept four halls busy at the same time. A Vancouver girl, Wanda Swidersky, was awarded the junior elocution championship, and with it the B.C. Dramatic School Junior Cup.

Two Tacoma singers, Mrs. Elizabeth Loring and Nedra Garff, won respectively the grade A mezzo-soprano and grade B soprano classes.

In the elocution championship Wanda Swidersky, who yesterday morning won the class for girls over 10 and under 13 years of age, was awarded 88 marks by the adjudicator, Mrs. C. H. Dunbar, in one of the closest finishes yet seen in the festival.

The three other competitors received 87 marks each. They were Juanita Woodman, Vancouver, winner of the girls under 10 class; Gordon Lyall, Vancouver, winner of the boys under 10 class, and William Moffatt, winner of the boys over 10 and under 13 class.

Mrs. Dunbar said the winner's voice was beautifully modulated and that she had good breath control and a natural and pleasing attitude. "She is a well-trained performer," she said.

Honors in the boys' and girls' intermediate elocution classes also went to Vancouver entries this morning. Barbara Kelly of the mainland city was first in the girls' class with 90, and Elsie Gray and Betty Flores, both of Vancouver, tied for second place with 88. In the boys' class the honors went to Walter Rutherford, Vancouver, with 86 marks against 80 for Charles D. Maunsell.

VICTORIA WEST WINS

Victoria West School won first place in the junior ensemble elocution section for groups of not more than 12 competitors with 86 marks. The Academy Reciters were second with 85.

"The standard is very high indeed here in Victoria," Mrs. Dunbar commented during the morning.

In the grade A mezzo-soprano class Mrs. Loring was given 85-87-172 marks for her singing of Alma Goatsley's "Nesting Time" and Rachmaninoff's "In the Silence of the Night." Lillian Meston was second with 85-86-171.

Stewart Wilson in his adjudication said he had made the award to Mrs. Loring because she had showed individuality in her treatment of the song. He then went on to refer to a statement by the British Columbia Department of Education with regard to group competition, while the essence of a race, is alien to aesthetic performance.

"I beg leave as profoundly as I can to deprecate that statement," he said.

The audience burst spontaneously into loud applause. "Aesthetic competition can raise the whole standard of music. It cannot be done by just sitting on your pants and thinking about it," he went on.

In the grade B soprano class, Miss Garff received 88 marks for her rendition of "Break O'Day" by Wilfred Sanderson. Elaine Banta, aged 15, was second with 86.

Mr. Wilson said the winner had a nice light voice with very good even vowel sound and excellent diction. The test piece was a commonplace song, and the only way to treat it was by giving the best possible musical performance. To over-accents the piece, as some singers did, was to insult the intelligence of the audience. He urged the competitors to strive for a good quality of sound, letting quantity come of its own accord later.

Ada Vowles took first place in the grade B mezzo-soprano class with 86 marks. Dwyne Evans was second with 85. The test piece was "Sweet Venetian" by Delius, a composer who, the adjudicator said, was one of the few requiring assistance in interpretation by the singer. The winner was the only one in the class who supplied that need.

WON ON PHRASING

The class for trios between the ages of 16 and 19 years was won by Dorothy Davies, Clemency Ord and Doris Jackson with 83 marks. The only other entry, Helen McDonald, Dorcas Muir and Rita Rooney, received 81. Mr. Wilson said the winners gained on their phrasing.

There was only one entry in the quartette class for the same age group. Mr. Wilson gave Hazel

Jackson, Clemency Ord, Dorothy Davies and Doris Jackson 85 marks for their performance of "What Saith My Dainty Darling" by Morley. The quartette showed more life than the preceding trios, he said. He warned them against playing about with the tempo of a bright swift piece of this sort.

The class for female vocal duets ended in a tie, with Winnifred Applegate and Elizabeth Welch and Josephine Charlebois and Barbara Dawson both being awarded 86 marks for their singing of Mendelssohn's "I Would That My Love." Jean Morrison and Catherine Dennison received 85.

Mr. Wilson said the two winning teams were successful in different manners, Miss Applegate and Miss Welch for their individual interpretation of the song, and Miss Charlebois and Miss Dawson for their fine blend of voices.

In his general remarks he said the two singers must work out a plan and play into each other's hands.

The piano solo class for grade 3 girls was won by Dorothy Craig with the excellent mark of 88-89-177. Her performance of two Greig pieces, "Elfin Dance" and "Patriotic Song" earned from Maurice Jacobson the comment that she was "a player who is fully alive and imaginative. She lives for the music, and so the music comes alive for her."

Joan Saul was second with 86-86-172.

In his general remarks Mr. Jacobson said that notes alone would not give the poetry of music, and that it was remarkable that players who had studied their pieces for several weeks could see nothing of their meaning.

Dorothy Anderson took the honors in the junior girls' piano solo class with 83-86-169. Betty Lou Playfair was second with 83-83-166. The test pieces were Kammell's "Giga" and Bach's "Two-part Invention No. 3."

Mr. Jacobson warned against over-pedaling in the Bach piece, saying the 18th century tempo and color were much different from those of the present day.

"This class put so much love into the music but lost out," he said.

Marie L. Vowles won the vocal solo class for girls under 13 with 90 marks. Patsy McKinley, Vancouver, and Joy McGahey tied for second place with 89. There were 37 competitors in the class, which was adjudicated by Sir Hugh Robertson.

After five singers had heard Sir Hugh stopped the class to say that most of the singers were "singing but not telling the audience anything," and that the audience had therefore stopped listening.

Enid Middleton and Joyce Morish won first place in the class for vocal solo by a girl under 13 accompanied at the piano by a boy or girl also under 13. A Ladysmith team, Mary Rogers and Gwendoline Spargo, tied with Edna Dawkins and Harold Pendray for second place one mark behind the winners.

Raymond Crabbe and Marie Vowles won the equivalent boys' class with 84. The only other competitor did not place.

In his comments on the two classes Sir Hugh warned the accompanists about losing the rhythm of the pieces, and told them to practice their left hands.

WISH PEARSON TO HELP MEN

At a meeting called by the Relief Project Workers' Union last night a delegation of three was named to interview Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and ask for a final answer whether the government will give assistance to young men who have recently come out of the winter forest camps.

Failing government help, it was arranged to have a committee prepare a brief on the unemployment question particularly as it affects young men, and to campaign through the Trades and Labor Council and other organizations to familiarize the public with the problem.

Twenty people attended the meeting. They included delegates from organized labor and youth clubs and a half dozen young men from the camps. One man said he had been arrested for vagrancy in the city yesterday, and two others said they had been warned not to solicit in Oak Bay.

Theft of $50 in a wallet left momentarily on a counter in a local store was reported to police yesterday afternoon by Joseph Stewart, 2615 Wark Street. Mr. Stewart left the wallet as he walked over to the other side of the store to make a purchase. A young man and young woman were reported to have been in the store at the time.

FATAL CRASH CASE OPENS

Chesworth Damage Claim Against Railway For Crossing Mishap Before Court

The damage actions arising out of a fatal crash in August in which the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway freight train collided with a car containing Mr. and Mrs. Peter Chesworth and Richard Valentine on the level crossing at Colwood, opened before Mr. Justice Murphy and a jury in the Court House here today.

Special and general damages are claimed by Mr. Chesworth and Mrs. Peter Chesworth and Richard Valentine on the level crossing at Colwood, opened before Mr. Justice Murphy and a jury in the Court House here today.

Testimony of five witnesses was taken this morning prior to luncheon adjournment. The case was scheduled to continue this afternoon.

Dr. E. W. Boak told the court of injuries sustained by Peter Chesworth and Mrs. Chesworth, noting the latter had died as a result of them shortly after being taken to the hospital on the night of August 21 last. He outlined the manner in which Mr. Chesworth had been hurt, stating the injuries would probably lessen his expectancy of life by five years.

Wilfred Gibson identified certain photographs of the scene of the accident, showing signs located by the crossing.

DRIVER TESTIFIES

Richard Valentine, brother of the late Mrs. Chesworth and driver of the car, told the court of the trip the party had made up-Island on the day in question. Returning from Nanaimo, they had stopped for a while in Ladysmith and left that town for Victoria about 8 at night. His car was in good condition and the brakes were functioning perfectly, he said. The night had been one of drizzling rain which made visibility poor.

Going down the incline leading to the crossing he had heard an exclamation from his sister and had applied the brakes to stop the car. He did not know he had stopped on the tracks, he stated. The glare from the locomotive headlights and those of an approaching car had confused him and four or six seconds after he had brought the automobile to a stop it had been struck by the train.

In reply to question by A. Alexander, appearing for the defendant railway company, he said he was acquainted with railway signs, but had seen none at the time of the accident at that crossing. He had stopped the car on the crossing before it was struck and could have driven over it, had he realized he was on the tracks, Mr. Valentine said. Lights had confused him. His average speed returning south from Ladysmith had been about 25 miles an hour, with his highest about 35, he said.

ATTENDED ACCIDENT

Sgt. Richard Harvey, Provincial Police, stated he had been on traffic duty at the Langford Garage, about 310 yards from the crossing on the evening of the accident. He had heard the train whistle and had later heard a noise. Going to the crossing he had seen the roadway blocked by a freight train, about 10 cars of which had crossed the highway. He and Constable F. Pomeroy, with the assistance of others, had taken the three occupants of the badly smashed automobile from their car as it rested about 55 feet from the roadway.

along the railroad right of way, he said.

There was no railroad company crossing sign on the side of the crossing from which the automobile had been approaching. A provincial government crossing sign was situated about 300 feet up the road, and close to the tracks was a motor transport stop sign. On the south side of the tracks was a weather beaten crossing signal erected by the railway. It was drab in appearance and not easily seen on the night in question, he said. Constable Pomeroy took the stand shortly before the adjournment.

R. D. Harvey appears for the plaintiff Chesworth.

Members of the jury are W. H. Mearns (foreman), A. B. Ford, F. F. Patt, J. M. Findlay, H. B. Hunter, M. J. Little, P. E. McCarter and Wm. Peden.

British Society's Head Suggests Chamberlain Re-affirm Old Freedom

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain Tuesday night asked members of the Newspaper Society, representing most of the British press, to "abstain from personalities" in commenting on foreign affairs.

The society's president, H. G. Clarke, while echoing the Prime Minister's wish, countered with a request for assurance the government is not planning to curtail freedom of the press.

"It is a fact," Mr. Chamberlain said at the society's annual dinner, "that foreign governments cannot and will not believe criticism and comment by papers of this country are not subject of at least tacit acquiescence on the part of the government, if not of their active entire approval."

"There has been an increasing tendency for foreign governments to become increasingly sensitive to press comments."

He asked the editors to "bear in mind what they are writing or passing for publication may come under the eye of the man they are criticizing."

He added that British press freedom was "a reality which we never at all question."

HINTS RECALLED

Observers recalled that British press comment on Germany was an issue of unsuccessful Anglo-German conversations among Mr. Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax and former Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany before Hitler seized Austria.

At that time semi-official hints were dropped to British newspapers that moderation in foreign affairs commentaries among Mr. Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax and former Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany before Hitler seized Austria.

Records of Speed 3—OVERLAND MACHINES

Back in the early days of the automobile and railway train, a speed of only a few miles an hour was made. In 1804, an inventor was proud when his locomotive pulled a few cars or "wagons" along tracks at the rate of five miles an hour. Twenty-one years later a railway train set a record of "almost 12 miles an hour."

In the past century, however, trains have been gaining and gaining, both in speed and in safety to passengers. We do not often hear of a train wreck, but we ride in trains which go from 60 to 90 miles an hour.

That is not the limit of present-day railway speed. During the present century, more than one train has sped over the rails at the rate of two miles per minute.

The two-mile-a-minute speed is made only in test runs. Many streamline trains have the power to go that fast, or nearly that fast, but it is not the custom while passengers are being carried. The time may come when that speed may be common, but railway companies follow the rule of "Safety First" for passengers.

When we think of the fine safety record for railroad passengers, it seems a shame that so many accidents take place where tracks cross highways. Thousands and thousands of persons have lost their lives because fast-moving trains have struck fast-moving automobiles. Safety experts have pointed out the great danger of the so-called "grade crossing."

England has almost no grade crossings. Trains pass under the highways, and it is almost an unknown thing in England for an automobile to be struck by a train.

During the past 10 years automobile speeds almost beyond belief have been made in test runs. A specially-built racing car ran over a long, clear stretch at Daytona Beach, Florida, and made a speed of 231 miles an hour. People called that speed "breath-taking," and it certainly was. It meant going at the rate of almost four miles a minute.

In 1931 Capt. Malcolm Campbell made an even faster run—245 miles per hour—but even that was not the end. Higher speeds have been made on the salt flats of Utah during the past few years.

Last fall the speed record for automobiles was shoved above 300 miles an hour! Here is a dispatch from Utah printed last November:

"Capt. G. Eyston of England broke the world land speed mark for the measured mile today. He drove his 'Thunderbolt' over the distance at an average speed of 311 miles an hour."

Eyston traveled at the rate of more than five miles a minute—a great deal faster than I would ever care to go in an automobile. (For General Interest section of your scrapbook.)

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1938

Astrologers read this as an unsettled day. Adverse planetary aspects appear to rule. It is a time for caution.

Disturbing news from foreign countries may spread fear. The seers admonish Americans to be steadfast in peace demands. The stars appear to indicate protection for the United States.

Many men will now reveal many minds in regard to national issues. Too much discussion by persons unaware of secret pacts is forecast.

Astrologers stress the importance of cultivating serenity and confidence. Both men and women should take thought of the morrow by exercising common sense.

Extravagance in dress and entertaining will be conspicuous among Americans of wealth. The quest for pleasure will be evident among men and women in all walks of life. Warning is given against the spread of gambling.

The temptation to live from day to day without thought of future exigencies will be strong among young folk.

Mars and Herschel rising in Central Europe are of evil portent. Little promise of settled conditions is read in the stars.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fair financial income, but there may be disputes and even scandals.

Children born on this day probably will be intelligent and fond of serious study. Subjects of this sign usually display originality.

James Harvey Linley, noted naturalist, was born on this date, 1787. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Karl Marx, socialist, 1818; John William Draper, scientist, 1811; One who

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

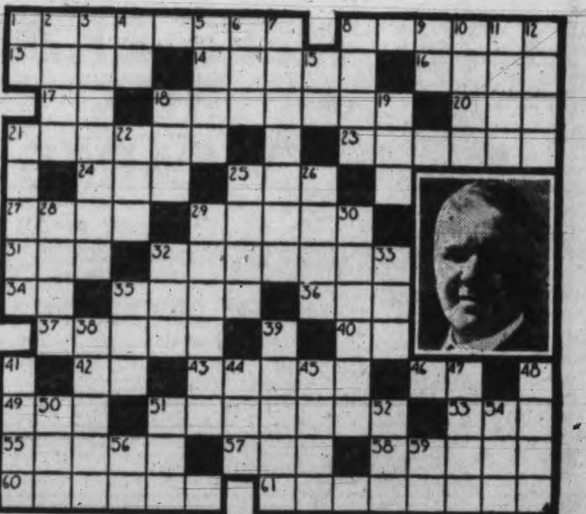

DEAR MISS DIX—My particular case is that a 30-year-old wife with a 40-year-old husband, no children, married three years. My husband and I both work. Neither gets a large salary, but our combined income enables us to rent a five-room house in the suburbs, pay on a car and furniture and save money. I do all of the housework. My husband is of the moody type, has to be continually bolstered up and encouraged and flattered to hold him to his position, which he is always threatening to give up. To tell the truth, some days I am so tired myself I feel I should be the one to get the encouragement and the pat on the head. But I skip it and try not to be too out of patience. The lot of the wife who works outside of the home is not an easy one. How can she be a successful wife and keep a contented husband?

Answer: There is no denying that in the scheme of things it was designed that the husband should be the breadwinner and the wife should make and keep the home. That division of labor gave each one plenty to do. Unfortunately, however, under present economic conditions it is often necessary, as in your case, for the wife to help make the dough as well as bake it. So far very few men seem to be big enough and just enough to realize how hard this is on the wife and to help work out an equitable adjustment of their problem.

There are, of course, exceptions to the rule, but the great majority of husbands do not seem to appreciate that for a woman to hold down two jobs puts her under a physical and nervous strain that only one with an iron constitution can stand. She must begin the day under high pressure. Rush through getting the breakfast and doing a little slapdash cleaning up. Hurry to the office or store. Give every ounce of strength and vitality to her work. Hasten home, stopping on the way to buy the food for the evening meal.

Personally, I do not think that any woman who works outside of the house should work in it. I think that those couples where both husband and wife are money earners should live in some comfortable boarding house or hotel. It would save many a working wife from wrecked health and a premature death. It would give her a chance to enjoy life and she would find it easier to get along with her husband if she was not always a bundle of nerves from overwork.

NEW FISHING RULES GIVEN

Amendments to Commercial Fishery Regulations of 1938 Announced

VANCOUVER (CP) — J. A. motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries in the Port of Vancouver, yesterday issued amendments to the commercial fishery regulations of 1938.

They were:
1. Seining area No. 5—Salmon seining is now permitted in the north arm of Kitkatla Inlet.
2. Seining area No. 7—Salmon seining will not be permitted before a date set each year by the chief supervisor.
3. Seining area No. 11—Salmon seining will be permitted each year after a date set by the chief supervisor.
4. Seining area No. 14—The purse-seining boundary of the two miles opposite the Big and Little Qualicum Rivers has been made permanent.
5. Seining area No. 17—The fishing boundary at the mouth of Ladysmith harbor now reads: "From Sharp Point to Boulder Point."
6. As in the case of halibut fishing, the chief supervisor or district supervisor may now authorize under license without fee the use of gill nets or purse-seines by cod fishermen for the taking of herring or pilchards for bait purposes.
7. Licenses to assistants (boat pullers) in the case of salmon gill netting have been abolished.
8. Sockeye fishing in district No. 2 may commence at 6 p.m. on the last Sunday of June in each year.

ASHES CAST ON EASTERN RIVER

Capt. G. Robertson, Formerly of Victoria, Has Last Wish Observed

FATHER POINT, Que. (CP)—A pilot's burial was Captain G. L. Robertson's last wish, and today his ashes drift down the broad St. Lawrence, past the river ships heading for the pilotage.
At a simple ceremony Sunday, off the coast of this south shore pilotage station, G. A. Raine, a family friend, read an appropriate prayer as Albert LaChance, president of Quebec Pilots, dropped the cremated remains of the one-time weather-beaten captain, to their grave.
Robertson died in Ottawa last January after being connected with the Department of Transport for 25 years. He was director of pilotage at the time of his death. Before he came to eastern Canada he was a resident of Victoria, B.C.

Dodging Extra Costs In Eastern Harbor

Ss. Balmoral (left) and Ss. Calumet are shown anchored at Longue Point, just outside the limit of the harbor of Montreal. They thus escape tonnage charges of about $50 a day, which they would be forced to pay if tied up at a berth. When their outbound cargo is ready they will up-anchor, go to their berths and load and sail with the least possible delay.

Woman Salvor On Ship Job

Fortune in Oak and Walnut Logs on Schooner at Bottom of Lake Erie

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (CP)—More than 70 years after the three-masted schooner New Brunswick foundered off Point Pelee in Lake Erie, a grandmother and a diver are hurrying preparations to be the first inside the battered hull and salvage a fortune in oak and walnut logs.

The grandmother is Mrs. Margaret Campbell Goodman, formerly of Detroit, now of New York. Mrs. Goodman, slender lady of 65, is believed the only woman in the world whose business is salvaging sunken treasure.
Less than five feet tall, and weighing under 100 pounds, Mrs. Goodman works under water while directing salvage operations. She is angry at the diver, Jack Browne of Milwaukee, who has announced he also will seek the treasure.
The schooner foundered in 40 feet of water three miles off shore during a storm and lies on a clay bottom. The timber cargo is said to be worth $250,000 on today's market.
"Experts tell me the wood actually improves under water," Mrs. Goodman said. "I should be inside the hull before another month passes. That young fellow Browne will not touch that ship so long as I have my contract."

The New Brunswick was one of a fleet owned by Baron Herbert Eberts of Chatham. Mrs. Goodman has a contract with the estate. Eberts' son, 84, sees little romance in the venture.
"It's just a lot of hard work and we're not sure what we'll get when we get to the thing," Mrs. Goodman has my permission to go after it, and if anyone can salvage the cargo, she is the one."

Start Canoe Jaunt New York to Alaska

NEW YORK (AP)—A writer, an artist and a school teacher stepped forward today with an answer to the recession—an 8,000-mile canoe trip from New York to Alaska.

That's probably the longest canoe trip ever attempted. They plan to shove off from here tomorrow, paddle up the Hudson River, through the Great Lakes, and up and down various rivers across Canada, winding up in Nome.
It will take six months, and cost only $750—they hope.
The adventurers are Mark Richelson, 30, of Lewiston, N.Y., who has dabbled in newspapering, anthropology and politics; Robert Fuller, 26, an artist from San Diego, Calif., and Richard Slobodin, 23, New York high school instructor and graduate anthropology student at Columbia.

Outside of beating the recession, the boys are a little vague about why they're going.
Richelson got the idea that someone told him that, as far as navigable waters went, the trip was possible, and nobody had done it.
Fuller thinks the climate (sometimes 70 below) may be good for his dandruff.
Slobodin heard that the Indians in the Mackenzie River section still indulge in cannibalism occasionally, and he thinks that ought to be looked into.

Coast Skipper Is Honored

Kiwians of the Pacific Northwest on Monday evening honored Capt. Arthur Slater, master of Ss. Princess Joan, when they presented him with an illuminated address, extolling the whole coastwise service. The picture shows Dr. Murray Blair, president of the Vancouver Kiwanis Club, making the presentation to Capt. Slater, who accepted it on behalf of his colleagues of the service. Typical of fine service, Capt. Slater is one of the Canadian Pacific's real veterans. His position as a seaman and a gentleman is established by his selection for the last six years to head the important Canadian Merchant Service Guild, whose affairs he conducts with much success.

Unification of Railways Opposed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian National Railway carmen, represented by union executives from all parts of Canada, voted Tuesday to "take steps to effectively oppose amalgamation, unification or further consolidation of railway services in Canada."
The resolution will be considered this week at the convention of the Canadian section of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, which opened here Monday.
The meeting of the C.N.R. carmen representatives was held in camera.

Veteran Railroad Worker Is Buried

KAMLOOPS—Funeral services were conducted here today for James Armstrong, 88, who died at Shuswap Monday, ending a colorful career with the Canadian Pacific Railway which extended back to 1884, a year before the last spike completing the pioneer transcontinental line was driven, 100 miles east of here at Craigellachie.
Veteran railwaymen, including Tom Kilpatrick, retired superintendent of the Revelstoke division, knew him as a fine type of railroad. He started work for the Canadian Pacific on what is now called the Revelstoke division in 1884, and was roadmaster in charge of the line built from the Columbia River, in the vicinity of Robson, west to Nelson, in 1892, and was roadmaster two years later in charge of constructing the Arrow Lake subdivision from Revelstoke to Arrowhead in the heyday of the West Kootenay mining boom.

Of English birth, he came to Canada as a young man. Unmarried, he has no known relatives in Canada. Pensioned in 1915 when he reached the age of 65 years, he has been living quietly in the Shuswap Lake district.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING
VANCOUVER (CP)—Midnight Sun, a new 80-foot fish packer, will be launched here today. She was built by the North Vancouver Ship Repair Company for the Friendly Cove Boat Company.
A sister vessel, Bligh Island, was launched last week. She is a seiner.
Two halibut vessels sold their catches on the Vancouver Fish Exchange yesterday. Manhattan No. 1 sold 5,000 pounds of chicken at 5 cents a pound, 7,500 medium at 6.6 cents, 150 large at 5 cents and 2,000 ling cod at 2.5 cents. Kitty sold 300 pounds of chicken at 5.1 cents, 1,000 medium at 6.5 cents, 200 large at 5 cents, 200 ling cod at 2.25 cents and 1,500 red cod at 2 cents.

Around the Docks

Mariners have been advised the light on the gas buoy marking Roberts Bank, Strait of Georgia, is reported not burning, but will be attended to as soon as possible by the lighthouse tender Estevan.

A wireless message from the liner Hikawa Maru, in mid-Pacific, yesterday reported Jigoro Kana, 78, Japan's member of the International Olympic Committee, had died of pneumonia. He was en route home from an Olympic meeting in Cairo. A member of the House of Peers, he was honorary president of the Japan Amateur Athletic Association.

A large number of Victorians will go to Port Angeles on Saturday on the excursion being sponsored by the C.P.R. Social and Athletic Club. The trip will be taken by Ss. Princess Joan, which will leave the Belleville Street docks at 1:30 p.m. and returning, will leave Port Angeles at 7 p.m. This is an annual affair, which is always highly popular.

Ms. Columbia, flagship of the Columbia Coast Mission, will go to drydock at Vancouver on May 16 to have all her underwater portions "iron barked," or covered with gum. She will be in drydock about 10 days and will then resume her calls of mercy to isolated ports along the coast.

Seattle's whaling fleet, after weeks of preparation, will leave for Alaska waters May 22. They will be based at Akutan, on Unimak Pass, entrance to the Bering Sea. The Port Hobson station on Kodiak Island will not be operated this year. The five ships of the fleet are the Paterson, Moran, Aberdeen, Kodiak and Unimak. The Tanginak will not go north this season. It will take the vessels 12 to 14 days to reach the Akutan station.

William P. Schupp, president of the Pacific American Whaling Company, is also head of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation of Victoria, whose six ships are now whaling in waters adjacent to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

MONTREAL—Crossing in the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond, due here Saturday, are members of the Church of England Sunday school motor caravans, who are coming to start another season of teaching Sunday school in sparsely settled districts of western and north-western Canada. Miss Eva Hasell, founder and organizer of the group, is on board the Duchess of Richmond with 33 girl companions who will leave for the west soon after arrival here.

Inbound from ports in Europe, the Royal Mail motorship Lochmonar sailed from San Francisco yesterday afternoon at 6 and will arrive here Friday morning. She is bringing four passengers and will discharge 200 tons of general freight before proceeding to Vancouver.

NORTHERN AIR SERVICE

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Dog team days and hit-or-miss mail service to the interior came closer to oblivion today with the start of the first government air mail flights to Fairbanks. Fred Milligan, who carried mail by dog team more than 30 years, was invited to make the first flight.

There are no islands in the Pacific between Hawaii and the coastal region of America.

PENSIONED OFF A FIT MAN

Rigors of Police Life Did Not Harm Him

At 60-years of age he was presumed to be beyond the arduous demands of police duties. But was he? Read what he says now—five years after he was pensioned:
"I am a man of 55 years. It is now five years since I was pensioned off from the police. I went through thick and thin, day and night in all weathers, while I was on the force, and am today as fit as any man still serving on the force. People often ask me 'How do you keep so young?' and my answer is 'Kruschen Salts.' I have used Kruschen salts for the last 13 years, and I will certainly use these Salts for the rest of my days."—W. J.
The numerous salts in Kruschen provide just that gentle daily aid your internal organs require to enable them to perform their work properly. These vital salts keep your liver and kidneys in top-notch efficiency, so that they help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. The result is a feeling of youthful health and vigor—"that Kruschen feeling!" (Adv.)

Norwegian Ship Is Hard Ashore

MANILA, P.I. (AP)—The Norwegian motorship Eli, bound for the United States with 5,700 tons of copra, went aground off Tabatan Point, north of Samar Island, during a severe storm last night.

The vessel was badly damaged and its number one hold flooded. The United States destroyer Edwards responded to an SOS call from the freighter and stood by until a tug arrived. An effort will be made to refloat the freighter operated by the International Shipping Company.

In addition to a crew of 30, the 380-foot motorship carried the 10-year-old daughter of the captain and wife of the chief engineer. All were reported safe.

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions, gave little encouragement Tuesday that the United Kingdom government would give further consideration to the plight of ex-imperial soldiers in Canada.

Answering a question from Gordon Graydon, Conservative, Peel, Ont., the minister related his conferences with British authorities 18 months ago. "I received no encouragement that any special recognition would be given to ex-imperialists in Canada," he said.
